SUDDENLY, A LAKE

The Fair Opens Tonight

By PAT PERRY

You wouldn't believe the Marin Art and Garden Fair this year.

It really has been transformed into the "Realm of the Gods," as promised. And the biggest transformation is the largest exhibit. What was a parking lot last week is now a serene lake, a one-third acre expanse of smooth water girded by handsome gardens complete with waterfalls and Greek temples.

The fair opens at 6 p.m. today at the Art and Garden Center in Ross. Exhibitors and organizers rate it perhaps the best-looking in the event's history, with the elegant lake, designed by fair architect David Coleman, undoubtedly the most dramatic feature.

In itself the lake is a triumph of persistence and mechanical ingenuity. No excavation was made to construct it. Banks were built up with earth, then 20,000 square feet of polyethylene plastic was laid out. Coleman said the sheets of plastic were fastened together by rolling into a sort of hem, then secured with dirt.

More than 150,000 gallons of water were pumped into the lake, which is centered with an illuminated waterfall and inhabited by goldfish and huge gold and silver carp.

The dozens of gardens entered in the show were being judged today, in classes which all bore classical titles such as "Jupiter and Juno" or "Appolo and Diane." Many of them feature lavish use of waterfalls and gazebos in the Greek temple style.

The five-day fair will be open daily after this evening from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. through July 4.

Hospitals Set For Onrush Of Medicare

By GLENN BECKER

The greatest revolution in American medical history starts tomorrow when Medicare—government-subsidized medical care for the aged—goes into effect at thousands of hospitals and doctors' offices across the United States.

The program will not become operative in convalescent hospitals until Jan. 1, 1967.

ALL CASES

Although Medicare deals in all cases in one basic commodity — money — the systems of payment to hospitals and doctors are different. Hospitals which wish to participate in the programs must send their bills to the intermediary handling their payments, Blue Cross in nearly all cases. Doctors may send their bills either directly to their intermediary, California Physician's Service in this state, or directly to the patient.

(In a story yesterday the Independent-Journal incorrectly reported that CPS is handling disbursements for hospitals. They are being handled by Blue Cross.)

DOCTORS' DECISION

The decision for the doctors is really this: Do they wish to accept CPS's estimate of a reasonable charge for their services, or do they wish to take the chance that their patients may not be able to pay the bill?

If the doctor wants to bill CPS directly, he must charge what CPS considers a reasonable amount, which is what all hospitals and nursing homes must do. While this is not entirely a pleasant prospect for the physicians, most in California and nearly all in Marin are accepting CPS assignment rather than bill their patients, according to Edward J. Collins Jr., outgoing executive secretary of the Marin Medical Society.

EMPTY CUP

"As one of the doctors told me," Collins reported, " 'Why take a drink out of an empty cup?' "

Those who accept assignment are bucking the wishes of the American Medical Assn.'s House of Delegates. After fighting passage of Medicare for years, the delegates have urged AMA members to bill their patients directly and let them deal with the program. A resolution to this effect was passed yesterday at the AMA convention in Chicago.

The patients have had to make some decisions as well. To qualify for medical benefits, the patient must be over 64 and must pay a premium of $3 per month. As is the case with hospital (institutional) benefits, he must

Hanoi Must Quit, Johnson Declares

U.S. Will Battle Until Peace Is Won

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — President Johnson today warned that heavy air strikes on North Viet Nam would continue.

Johnson issued the statement in opening a speaking trip in the farm belt.

"The air attacks on military targets in North Viet Nam have imposed—and will continue to impose—a growing burden and a high price on those who will wage war against the freedom of others," Johnson said in a prepared address.

It was the President's first public statement since the stepped-up U.S. bombings of new military targets in North Viet Nam.

The President spoke beside the Missouri River. Nearby were barges being loaded with grain for India. Johnson said there would be no hope of world peace if Communist aggression in Asia were allowed to go unchecked.

Johnson said that the U.S. effort in Viet Nam would continue "until the day they (the Communists) decide to end this aggression and make an honorable peace."

"No one knows how long it will take," Johnson said. "Only North Viet Nam can be the judge of that.

"No one can tell you how much effort it will take.

"No one can tell you how much sacrifice it will take.

"No one can tell you how much costly it will be."

"But I can—and do—here and now tell you this: The aggression will not succeed. The people of South Viet Nam will be given a chance to work out their own destiny, in their own way, and not at the point of a bayonet," Johnson said.

Omaha was Johnson's first stop on an intensive one-day schedule of speeches, farm inspection and politicking. After his brief visit in Nebraska, his next stop was in Des Moines, Iowa, where he was scheduled to address a Democratic fund-raising rally at 6:30 p.m. PDT.

After Des Moines, he was expected to fly late tonight to his Johnson City, Tex., ranch for a July 4th holiday of indeterminate length.

Real Break For City Taxpayers: Soil Conservation Tax Is Down

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County taxpayers, particularly those who are not part of the county soil conservation district, will be glad to learn that their support for the district will be lower in fiscal 1967.

Taxpayers in all cities and in most unincorporated communities are not within the boundaries of the district, yet they have helped pay a total of $6,050 contributed from the county's general fund to support the district operation since it was formed seven years ago.

Most payments have been $1,000 a year, but in fiscal 1961 there was no county contribution, and in one year the grubstake was $750.

Supervisors first authorized the payments in 1959 after district directors explained that it would require a special survey of boundaries before the district could levy its own taxes.

The payments have been going on ever since.

Soil district directors this month adopted a budget of $1,220 for fiscal 1967, and reported to supervisors that only $97.80 would be needed from the general tax pool because of $1,122.20 in carryover balance. This was a balance that was not reflected in the $1,300 budget filed for the current fiscal year.

A check of county auditor-controller Michael Mitchell's records showed that district expenditures actually totaled $4,429, including $3,750 paid to George S. Nolte, consulting engineer. This was probably not shown because the figure was the final payment on a $18,750 Walker Creek-Paper Mill Creek drainage study, financed by county and state funds.

Revenues for the current fiscal year totaled $2,932, including a $1,000 contribution from the general fund, $1,875 put up by the county as payment for funds advanced by the district for the San Geronimo Valley Master Plan, a study completed five years ago, and $57 for rental of the district's seeder.

In addition, the district had a reserve balance of $2,932 at the start of the fiscal year.

Largest item in the budget for the new fiscal year is $500 for "directors expense conventions," a $350 item in the current budget.

The district has its headquarters in Point Reyes Station.

Supervisors Finish Trim On Budget

Marin County supervisors yesterday made the final adjustment in the proposed budget for fiscal 1967, calling for a county tax rate that could be as high at $2.34 per $100 assessed valuation.

Changes in the $25.9 million budget recommended by County Administrator Alan Bruce were still being computed today by the county auditor-controller's office. It will be some time before all totals are figured, Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said. But he figured that cuts by the board of supervisors reduced the demand on local property taxes by half a million dollars. The recommended budget called for $10.9 million in property taxes and would have meant a tax rate of $2.456 per $100 assessed valuation.

Mitchell said today the rate will probably be $2.34 but could drop to $2.30, particularly if the assessed valuation of the county goes up more than the 9 per cent he had estimated.

Assembly Balks Budget Passage

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate passed a $4,589,936,032 state budget today but the Assembly declined to go along until the legislature approves a bill to balance the biggest spending program in California history.

The Assembly's decision placed lawmakers in a race against the clock. Gov. Brown must sign the budget by midnight tonight or the state won't have the legal means to pay its bills.

Still awaiting approval was the Democratic governor's book keeping revision — permitting him to count in advance, or accrue, some $493 million in expected tax dollars.

THE FOURTH HERE A LITTLE EARLY

All of a sudden, it was that time of year in Corte Madera yesterday.

Police reprimanded children on Montecito Drive and at the San Clemente School playground during the day, after neighbors complained they were setting off firecrackers.

They Sleep On Floor At The Jail

Because of crowding, about 17 prisoners in Marin County jail have been sleeping on the floor, according to a report from Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

Judge Goldstein came upon this information when a defendant, found guilty of petty theft by a jury Friday, asked to be released on his own recognizance "because, among other things, he was sleeping on the floor."

The judge said the court bailiff told him about 17 prisoners were sleeping on the floor.

An examination of the defendant's record convinced the judge the man could not be safely released. Judge Goldstein discussed the matter with Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and the problem was temporarily solved by transfer of some county prisoners to Sonoma County jail.

In a letter to county supervisors Judge Goldstein declared that "once the defendant is sentenced to jail, the community has a responsibility to prevent him from harm inside the institution."

The judge also deplored the lack of a guard inside the jail to prevent violence to prisoners.

U.S. Planes Continue Hammering Oil Depots

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON — U.S. jets returned to the Hanoi area today and bombed three petroleum storage areas and a radar control center. One of the oil dumps was only seven miles from the North Vietnamese capital still wreathed in smoke from yesterday's raids.

Heavy ground fighting broke out in South Viet Nam today and troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division were locked in a major battle with a force of 2,000 to 2,500 Viet Cong 60 miles north of Saigon. U.S. air strikes there killed an estimated 200 Communists. Another action near Hue killed 202 Viet Cong.

The increased tempo of the war was reflected in figures released today which showed American forces suffered 893 casualties last week. The figures included 131 dead—almost double that of the previous week.

Yesterday's air attacks on the Saigon-Haiphong area were having major world repercussions. The United States was alternately condemned and praised. Red China thus far has not reacted but the Soviet Union said today it would give "growing support" to Communist North Viet Nam. But it made no specific promises.

Japan called the step "unavoidable." The Vatican voiced "regret."

Wisps of smoke from yesterday's massive attack at the very outskirts of Hanoi still hung in the air as Navy and Air Force raiders struck the Nguyen Khe depot in another blow at the Communist nation's dwindling petroleum supplies.

At the same time, another flight of Air Force F-105 Thunderchiefs ripped into the Viet Tri petroleum storage area 28 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Navy jets, acting in concert with the Air Force attack, hit the Bach Gian fuel dump 25 miles northeast of Hanoi and attacked a radar ground control interceptor center 38 miles from the capital.

Fidel Breaks His Silence

MIAMI (UPI) —Cuban Premier Fidel Castro broke eight weeks of unusual silence last night in Havana to accuse the United States of "dirty political intervention" against the Cuban team at the Central American and Caribbean games in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Castro's long winded speech at a stadium rally contained no clues to his activities during his absence from public appearances.

Presiding at welcoming ceremonies for the Cuban team, which lost three "miserable" defectors to the United States, the Cuban Premier also blasted Avery Brundage, chairman of the International Olympic Committee.

Nuclear Warheads Leaving France

By PAUL TREUTHARDT

PARIS (UPI) —The United States told France today it is withdrawing the nuclear warheads with which French rockets are equipped because of President Charles de Gaulle's walkout from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) military command.

A memo delivered to the Foreign Office by U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen said that as a result of the NATO pullout the bilateral agreements governing control of the warheads no longer apply, and the United States is withdrawing them.

France formally leaves NATO tomorrow.

Informed sources said the communique reaffirmed an earlier note delivered April 12.

That note warned the French that the "two-key" system now governing the nuclear warheads would no longer apply if France left NATO.

Under the system, the warheads can only be fired after both a French and an American officer have each turned a key to activate them.

French troops in West Germany are equipped with Honest John missiles that will now become virtually useless. American sources said the warheads would now revert solely to U.S. control.

France's break with her NATO allies took concrete form today with change of command ceremonies removing French Gen. Jean Crepin as commander of Allied forces in central Europe.

Crepin, senior French officer in the alliance, relinquished his post to Germany's Gen. Johann Adolf von Kielmansegg in brief ceremonies at NATO's Fontainbleau headquarters outside Paris just one day before the pull-out deadline set by President Charles de Gaulle.

U.S. forces at other NATO installations began at least a token pull-out today. French officials have said the July 1 deadline is only symbolic and agreed that several more months would be needed to accomplish the orderly removal of NATO facilities to other spots in Europe.

At the big U.S. air base at Eureux 50 miles west of the capital C130 transport planes rolled out on the tarmac for the last time and prepared for flights later today to Mildenhall base in England. The 32 giant transports and their support equipment and personnel will all be clear of the base by Sept. 1.

French officials also agreed to stagger the withdrawal of the 2,400 French officers and men from NATO posts over several months to avoid disruption of the organization.

WPR To Seek Ending Part Of Zephyr Run

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Western Pacific Railroad has announced it will ask the Interstate commerce Commission for permission to discontinue its California Zephyr passenger trains on the leg between Oakland and Salt Lake City, Utah.

Railroad president M. M. Christy said in a statement yesterday that the railroad lost $823,800 before taxes last year. He said this was $287,600 more than in 1964.

"Until a final ICC decision to allow discontinuance is received it is our firm intention to maintain, in every way, the customary high standards of California Zephyr service," Christy said.

The train, which began running in 1949, includes a stewardess and a glass observation dome. There is an eastward and a westward train each day consisting of a locomotive, four coaches and four Pullman sleepers.

The Denver & Rio Grande Railroad is responsible for the train between Salt Lake and Denver and the Burlington & Quincy Railroad runs the train between Denver and Chicago.

There was no word from either company that their services would be discontinued.

Another Strong Earthquake Shakes Central State Area

PASO ROBLES (AP) — A strong earthquake, the third in three days, jolted a wide area of Central California yesterday afternoon.

Like its predecessors, the tremblor did little or no damage.

Seismologists at the University of California at Berkeley said the quake-which measured 5 on the Richter scale — was centered 20 miles northeast of Paso Robles in Monterey County.

Two earthquakes originating in the same area struck Monday night and caused a two-inch slippage along the San Andreas Fault for 15 miles. It was the most prominent break along the fault since 1940. The quakes measured 5.2 and 5.4.

The seismologists said the quake yesterday was independent of the two earlier quakes and not, as was first believed, an aftershock.

It came at 12:35 p.m. PDT and struck so suddenly that the university's seismograph needle was jarred off its chart.

Seismologists said the current series of tremors has been followed by a large number of aftershocks, perhaps as many as 200 to 300. None has registered above 3.4 and none has caused any known damage.

Dog Bites Man

Curt Thompson of 197 Oakdale Avenue, Mill Valley, told police yesterday he was bitten "on the back of the knee" by a german shepherd while at 247 Miller Avenue. Owner of the dog was asked to confine the animal for 15 days, said police.

Bay Channel District May Soon Be Reality

Petition representing 60 per cent of the property owner have been collected to form the proposed Richardson Bay channel dredging district.

It is the second time such petitions have been circulated First was in March, 1964, according to engineer Jesper Strandgaard of Bala and Strandgaard.

At that time, things got tangled up when the Richardson Bay master plan was changed and the channel moved to the bulkhead line. Last year, property owners moved the channel back to Railroad avenue.

Petitions are being checked by engineers and the county Department of Public Works to determine if those who signed represent a sufficient percentage of the total land within the district. The check is expected to be complete by tomorrow and to be ready for the board of supervisors agenda Tuesday.

The intention is that the district would, with cooperation of the Army Corps of Engineers, dredge the channel to make it navigable for small craft.

Court Bans Four Real Estate Firms

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Four real estate companies have been ordered to stop doing business in California because they don't have permits from the State Corporations Commissioner.

Superior Court Judge Conrad J. Moss ruled yesterday on a petition filed by the office of Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch against the American Family Foundation of California, the American Family Foundation of Chicago, the National Pure Trust Service and the Estate Organization Service.

Lynch's petition alleged that the promoters interested prospective investors through a series of "Science of Money" lectures, then encouraged those attending to form real estate investment trusts to buy large plots of property.

Walters' resignation as headmaster of the Academy, announced in February, was effective today. He has been succeeded as headmaster by Lawrence W. Robertson, a member of faculty for 11 years.

Walters will be joined in Vancouver by Mrs. Walters and their four children in August. She will teach psychology at Clark College, Vancouver.

Congressmen To Hire Professional Police

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It took an attack on a congressman last March to do it, but the House finally decided yesterday to add 72 professional policemen to the 262-man capitol security force, whose ranks now are filled mostly by college students.

The proposal has been under consideration for years, but action was spurred when Rep. James C. Cleveland, R-N.H., was stabbed and robbed while working at night in his Capitol Hill office.

VICKI WONACOTT
'Miss Oakland' from San Rafael

'Miss Oakland' Title To San Rafael Girl

An 18-year-old San Rafael girl will compete as "Miss Oakland" in next week's Miss California Universe beauty pageant in Los Angeles.

Vicki Wonacott of 881 Las Ovejas Avenue competed with eight other Bay Area girls this week in San Francisco for the Oakland and San Francisco titles.

Miss Wonacott, a honey-blonde with brown eyes, graduated this month from Terra Linda High School.

Speaking of beauty contests, she said today, "This is all very new and exciting to me." But she is not a complete stranger to this kind of thing, having been chosen Photo Queen last month by the San Francisco Recreation Department's camera center.

Miss Wonacott, a streamlined 35-24-36, has been studying modeling for seven months, but said, "My main interest is to go on to Santa Rosa Junior College in the fall."

If she wins the Miss California Universe title, she will reign for a year before competing for the Miss U.S.A. title and, hopefully, the Miss Universe competition to be held in June and July, 1967.

The nice thing about this contest, according to Miss Wonacott, is that "it doesn't interrupt your studies." She said, "The girls are kept pretty busy on the weekends, but you continue your education."

She will fly to Los Angeles Tuesday and compete for the title Friday.

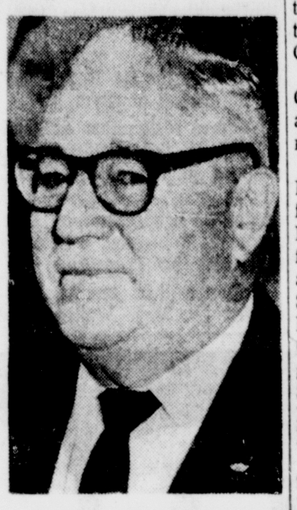
OBITUARIES

Paving Contractor Albert Raisch Dies



ALBERT G. RAISCH
He paved the highway

Albert G. Raisch Sr., former Marin paving contractor and onetime owner of the 500-acre Sleepy Hollow Ranch, died yesterday at a San Francisco hospital after a brief illness. He was 76.

Raisch founded the A. G. Raisch Paving Co., later headquartered in Novato, in 1922 and is credited with paving most of Highway 101 from Golden Gate Bridge to Petaluma.

He was the third generation of his family to engage in road building in the Bay Area, following in the footsteps of his pioneer grandfather, Gottfried Raisch, who came from Germany in 1849 to San Francisco, where he cobbled many of the city's streets.

Raisch was a member of many Masonic groups and, an ardent horseman, a member of numerous horsemen's associations.

A native of San Francisco, he was graduated from the now-defunct Cogswell School. He then attended West Point, leaving before graduating to join his father's firm in San Jose, the A. J. Raisch Paving Co.

At the outbreak of World War I, he joined the Army Corps of Engineers, serving in France as a first lieutenant.

After the war, he again worked briefly in his father's San Jose firm.

It was while working on one of his father's paving contracts in San Anselmo that he met Katherine Jensen, whom he married there in 1922, shortly after founding his own company.

His paving firm, located in San Francisco first, moved its headquarters to Novato in 1944, where it remained until dissolved in 1964. In its 42 years of operation the firm executed contracts with every city in Marin.

From 1944 to the late 1950s, he and Mrs. Raisch owned and operated the Sleepy Hollow Ranch at the end of Butterfield Road, now the site of San Domenico School for Girls.

At that time his cattle roamed freely across empty fields that are now largely developed.

On the death of his father in 1950, Raisch assumed leadership of A. J. Raisch Co. of San Jose, as well as his own firm. He was chairman of the board of the San Jose company at the time of his death.

He was a past president of the Marin County Shrine Club and organizer of a mounted division of the Knights Templar.

His other Masonic affiliations include: Parnassus Lodge 338, San Francisco; Royal Arch Masons of California, San Francisco Chapter 1; San Francisco Court 4 of the Royal Order of Jesters, and California Commandery 1, Knights Templar of California. He was also a member of the Press and Union League Club and a past member of the Marin County Mounted Sheriff's Posse.

He is survived by his wife, Katherine Raisch of San Francisco; a son, Albert G. Raisch Jr. of Los Gatos; a daughter, Mrs. Fisher J. Winslow Jr. of Kent Woodlands; two sisters, Mrs. Holloway Jones and Mrs. Marie Louise Burke of San Francisco, and five grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 1 p.m. tomorrow at N. Gray and Co., Divisadero and Post streets, San Francisco. The family prefers that tributes be contributions to favorite charities.

man of the board of supervisors, said the rate could be $2.28. Tax rate for this year was $2.185 per $100 assessed valuation.

Biggest budget cuts were made in welfare, capital improvements, parks and recreation, and road budgets. Yesterday the board adopted pay increases for employees which will require about $600,000 additional on the fiscal 1967 payroll.

Bruce had set aside $650,000 for pay increases. Supervisors kept $10,000 of this in reserve for pay increases for appointed department heads next January.

Biggest pay increases went to firemen and sheriff's deputies, with the pay scale for most coming up by 15 per cent at least. Higher ranking positions in both departments generally received 20 per cent pay boosts.

either be in the Social Security program or have made Medicare application by May 30 of this year.

As a person nears 65, he may sign up for Medicare during the six months before and after his 65th birthday. If he is in the Social Security program, he need only apply for the medical assistance eligibility; the institutional benefits are his automatically. If not, he must apply for both.

In its present form, Medicare is only a partial insurance program, much like the private programs it is intended to supplement. There is a $50 deduction, for example, on medical benefits which the program does not pay; after that it pays 80 per cent of the medical costs for the particular service involved.

He was a native of Austria who came to California 10 years ago. He had lived in Marin for two months.

Christopher, Brown Patch Things Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown said yesterday that he was sorry former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher had been attacked during ths recent campaign for an old violation for a milk price law.

Brown, who has known Christopher for more than 30 years, described him as "a man of personal integrity and honor" and "a public official who has made significant contributions to the welfare of our state."

Christopher thanked Brown for "correcting the record." He also said he would not include Brown as a co-defendant in his $6.2 million suit against Washington columnist Drew Pearson —a threat Christopher made last week.

The story of Christopher's misdemeanor conviction was printed in two articles by Pearson. The columnist filed a $2 million suit against Christopher, asserting that his supporters had tried to block publication of the columns. Christopher filed a $6.2 million counter-suit charging that Pearson had libeled him.

Brown, who has admitted that his staff had helped Pearson in his research, told Christopher that "the charges did not originate with me." He also said reports that his supporters took out a libel insurance policy for Pearson were false.

Christopher said that he found it "gratifying" to hear that the governor was "not a party to the old and distorted charges against me in the primary and I accept your assurance in this respect."

Brown indicated he would like Christopher's backing in his bid for a third term against Reagan, but Christopher had no comment on that.

Marin Schools Make Limited Use Of Facilities For Summer

Summertime use of public school facilities in Marin County will hit its peak next week, with more than one-third of all schools in partial operation.

College of Marin, which runs almost a full schedule during the summer, has already opened its summer classes, as have all high schools except Tamalpais, which has no summer school.

MOST OF the elementary districts have started summer sessions or will do so next week. None of them, however, will have summer classes at all schools.

Marin's summer utilization of school buildings ranges from zero in the one-school districts and the two-school Bolinas-Stinson District to eight weeks at all three schools in Tamalpais High School District. The elementary school districts holding summer sessions have four-week or five-week courses at only part of their schools.

All such summer sessions are on a voluntary attendance basis except that some pupils attend remedial classes if they are to move up in grade next fall.

Highest summer attendance is in the Tamalpais High School District, which has 2,229 enrolled at its three schools — nearly half of the regular enrollment.

LOWEST attendance where any summer session is conducted is in the West Marin School District. There, a remedial course is being offered, principally in reading, to 34 pupils out of the regular enrollment of about 300.

None of the elementary or high schools is in use for a full day during its summer session. Almost all are on a four-hour day.

Here is a rundown of the summer school offerings in Marin's public school districts:

Dixie School District will have four of its nine schools in use for a five week session, with about one-fourth of the regular schools year's enrollment.

Fairfax has one of its three schools in use for a session to which pupils from Lagunitas District, which has no summer session of its own, are also admitted.

Kentfield is using two of its three schools for a four-week session, with about one-fourth of the pupils returning for the summer classes.

Larkspur has one of its four schools in use for five weeks, with enrollment less than one-fourth of the district total during the regular school year.

Mill Valley is using four of its eight schools, with slightly over one-fourth of the regular enrollment.

Novato has five of its elementary schools in use, with about one-fourth of the regular enrollment, and has nearly one-third of its high school students back for a six-week summer session.

Reed District is offering summer classes at one of its five schools, with about 30 per cent of the pupils present for a four-week stint.

In San Anselmo District, one of the six schools is in use, with enrollment about one-fourth of the total student body.

SAN RAFAEL High School District has both of its schools in use for a seven-week session, four hours a day, with enrollment well below one-third of that during the regular school year.

San Rafael Elementary School District is using six of its 13 schools for a five-week program, with about one-third of the district's regular enrollment attending.

Sausalito has special programs going on at two of its four schools.

Tamalpais High School District, as already noted, is using all three schools for an eight-week summer session, with enrollment about 45 per cent of that during the regular term.

West Marin District has 34 pupils under one teacher and a teacher's aide at one of its two schools.

Most of the elementary districts are offering five weeks of summer school to make up the minimum number of school days required by the state before it will allot "average daily attendance" funds. However, only four weeks are offered in Kentfield, Mill Valley, Reed and West Marin districts.

With 12 weeks between the close of the spring term and the fall opening, this means that all of the elementary schools will be idle at least seven weeks. Two-thirds of the elementary schools are idle throughout the entire summer. No elementary or high school is used to full capacity.

No school—except the junior college—is used more than four hours per day for class work during the summer, as compared to six or seven hours during the regular term. In none does the summer session wholly replace fall, winter or spring quarter studies—as it obviously cannot when summer attendance is a voluntary addition to the regular nine-month term.

Heat Reminds City That Winter's Ahead

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Maybe it was the heat outside—91 degrees—that had officials in City Hall thinking of the cold days ahead.

They awarded four contracts —one to buy 4,002 gallons of antifreeze and the others to three companies to buy 2,040 tons of coal.

Changes Proposed In City Elections

San Rafael's city charter revision committee last night gave "first passage" to a proposal that the police chief, city attorney, treasurer and clerk be appointed rather than elected

Chairman Roy M. Michael said proposals have to be passed twice by the majority of the committee before they will be recommended to the city council.

The vote to make the four city offices appointive was 4-0, with Gerald H. Purcell absent due to illness.

Committee members agreed that the four officers should serve at the pleasure of the city council, rather than for four-year terms.

They also gave "first passage" to a proposal that the city election date be changed from Monday to Tuesday, as in other cities.

Proposed changes in the charter will have to be placed before the voters, and committee members agreed that each proposed charter amendment should be placed on the ballot separately.

In an effort to streamline the procedure for filing initiative referendum and recall petitions, the committee gave first passage to a proposal that "a petition or petitions" be permitted.

Under the charter, each petitioner must sign on a separate sheet of paper. Thomas P. Boyd commented that this is a cumbersome method that results "in just a lot of paper."

Committee members also agreed that the charter provisions covering police court, health department, health officer, and poundmaster be abolished as archaic.

The committee agreed to study the charter provision that limits the city to spending not more than $1,000 a year for promotion and advertising at its next meeting, next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Michaels said representatives of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce want to discuss the use of hotel-motel tax revenue for advertising and promotion with the committee.

Committee members also agreed that the city boundary section of the charter is outdated. It does not include any of the Terra Linda area and other recent annexations.

They agreed to consider recommending that the vote needed for passage of a special tax be lowered from two-thirds.

Members briefly discussed the compensation for councilmen, $50 a month, and for the mayor, $100 a month, but took no action.

They discussed a proposal to raise the limit on public works and purchases that can be handled without going to bid, but took no action. Under the charter, all public works exceeding $1,500 and all purchases exceeding $2,500 must be advertised for bid.

Michaels said that the committee will meet at city hall in open session. He said that along with the committee recommendations, members can file minority reports if they wish.

WHERE CAN CITY FIND SUCH HELP?

San Rafael has a minimum wage law that is really minimum, $3 a day.

One section of the city charter, now undergoing study for revision, says "the minimum wages of any laborer, workman or mechanic shall be $3 per day."

San Rafael's city charter revision committee agreed last night the section is "archaic."

Painters' Union Elects Friend Of Slain Man

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Morris Evanson, a friend of the late Dow Wilson, was elected Wednesday to fill the post Wilson held in the Painters Union when he was slain April 5.

Evanson takes over as head of Local 4 and Joaquin Cabezud, financial secretary, was elected to succeed Wilson on the joint union - employer board of trustees for welfare funds.

Wilson was fatally shot as he left a night union meeting. His killer has not been found. Five men, including Richard Rock of Mill Valley, have been charged with murder conspiracy stemming from the death.

Dissatisfied British Seamen End Strike

LONDON (AP) — As Britain's merchant seamen headed back to their ships today — grumbling that their 45-day strike had gained them little or nothing — experts estimated that the tieup may eventually cost the country as much as $280 million.

What editorials called "this terrible cost" cut clear across Britain's shaky economy — from lost wages and depleted union treasuries to lost exports and into the vaults of the Bank of England.

Some foreign currency dealers estimated the bank had to spend $140 million to support the pound against new attacks in world money markets during the strike, with its inflationary threats.

Added to this were the losses to the shipowners.

The cost to the public — in higher prices for food and other commodities — could not be estimated accurately yet.

The Seamen's Union estimated it paid out the equivalent of about $750,000 in strike benefits.

Shipowners and exporters were anxious to get the ships out of clogged ports as quickly as possible. But they faced more delay — the strike will not end officially until midnight tomorrow. Union leaders said they needed more time to explain the settlement to their angry rank and file.

In money terms, the seamen boosted their average weekly pay by about $2.80 to $58.80 and cut the average number of hours they will work by about two to roughly 66 with overtime. Their wage still will be less than most European seamen earn.

Burglar Sets Off Food Store Alarm

A burglar pried a door on the west side of the Madera Food Market at 508 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, at 2:30 a.m. today, and set off a burglar alarm, but skipped out before police arrived.

Police said nothing was missing from the store.

Russia Ready To Sign Pact With France

MOSCO W (UPI) —France and the Soviet Union today were entering a close political partnership just short of an outright alliance.

Informed sources said the joint Soviet-French declaration, a document virtually without precedent in recent international diplomacy, would:

Pledge France and the Soviet Union to cooperate closely in the field of international policy-making through meetings of their foreign ministers at six-month intervals.

Create a "hot line" telephone link between the Kremlin and the Elysee Palace in Paris.

Finch Demands Adviser To Brown Quit U.C. Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Republican candidate for lieutenant governor has demanded the resignation of a University of California regent who is serving as a top adviser in the campaign of Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Robert Finch issued the demand in a speech to Republican associates yesterday. It was aimed at regent Frederick Dutton, an attorney.

"All of us agree that partisan politics should not intrude into the conduct of our great university system in California," Finch said. "If this is true, Dutton should resign as a trustee of the University of California."

State Republican chairman Dr. Gaylord Parkinson had charged Monday that Dutton's political activities violate the state Constitution.

Parkinson's charge drew a denial from Dutton, who replied: "I have the same right to be active in the public life of this state as every other citizen."

Dutton manager Brown's first campaign for governor and served as the governor's first administrative assistant.

HOSPITALS WARNED ON MEDICARE

WASHINGTON (AP)—John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, said today — on the eve of the beginning of medicare — that his department would insist on full compliance with civil rights laws by hospitals that participate in the health insurance program.

The secretary said no hospital will be cleared for participation unless the dapartment has convincing evidence that it is in fact in compliance.

Congress Agrees On Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate and House negotiators yesterday approved a $17.5 billion defense bill which would authorize money to build nuclear powered vessels for the Navy and give military personnel a 3.2 per cent pay boost.

The compromise bill, worked out at a 15-minute conference committee session, would give the Navy $130.5 million for a guided missile nuclear powered frigate and $20 million to buy some hardware for a second frigate.

The bill also contained an $11.8 million House-aproved provision to speed development of an advanced manned strategic bomber to take over from the B52s now in the Strategic Air Command.

AMA Urges Direct Medicare Charges

CHICAGO (UPI) —The American Medical Assn. wound up its dispute-riddled convention today with a Medicare policy more militant than AMA leaders had bargained for.

The association's House of Delegates today gathered up the loose ends of resolutions and were to decide whether the AMA should purchase radio and television time to explain to the public its Medicare policies.

The House of Delegates, in a shouting floor rebellion, yesterday overruled study committees and urged the nation's healers to bill all their Medicare patients directly and to have nothing to do with forms that provide for doctor payments by government-designated insurance firms.

Doctors following the AMA policy—it is strictly voluntary—will leave it up to their elderly patients to get reimbursed under the federal health care program.

Dr. John H. Budd of Cleveland, Ohio, led the spirited floor fight that strengthened the AMA's stand for direct billing of patients. The 228 delegates representing 200,000 doctors shouted their upproval.

The AMA Advisory Committee on Medicare reported yesterday it was "disturbed" at the Health, Education and Welfare Department's submission of a new government regulation involving Medicare just six days before the new program went into effect.

The proposal, AMA spokesmen said, would limit fees of hospital-based specialists under Medicare. The AMA asked for, and received, a meeting tomorrow with HEW Secretary John Gardner to discuss the regulation.

Foreigners Visit Marin Library

More visitors from far away came to Marin's Civic Center yesterday, particularly to see the county library.

They were Maria Helena Haberbeck Brandao, supervisor of book lending service and travel libraries, Sao Paulo, Brazil; Margarita Giraldo, Librarian, Bogota, Colombia; Hitoshi Kurihara, head of the prefectural library, Osaka, Japan and Jonathan Sawyer, librarian of the regional library, library board of Sierra Leone.

Their visit to the United States was sponsored by the 1966 multi-area group library program.

Windshield Chipped

The windshield of Marjorie Lawrence's car was pitted by a pellet from a slingshot or air gun at 9:40 a.m. today on Forbes Avenue near J Street as she drove to work from her home at 19 Oakwood Drive, according to San Rafael police.

Teen-Ager, Woman Hurt In West Marin Accidents

A Mill Valley youth and a Richmond woman suffered serious injuries in two accidents yesterday on Shoreline Highway in West Marin.

Peter Perdue, 17, suffered a fractured skull when his car crashed off the highway near Belvedere Avenue in Stinson Beach about 10 p.m.

Perdue, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Perdue of 70 Surrey Avenue, was in poor condition today in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital after undergoing surgery.

The California Highway Patrol reported Perdue was driving south when his car swerved off a curve and careened 100 feet.

The woman, Jeanne F. Vaughan, 43, was in fair condition in the same hospital with multiple cuts and bruises.

She was driving north near Olema at 5:25 p.m. when her car hit a power pole. She then backed her car across the road and hit a fence, the highway patrol reported.

She was cited for driving on the wrong side of the road.

The man on the moon display, to be shown the first time on the West Coast and second time in the U.S., will be inside the center building. The missile, sponsored by the Mill Valley American Legion Post, will be in front of the center. Both may be seen in late afternoon and evening tomorrow.

CARNIVAL TONIGHT

Carnival will start this evening at the Optimist Club baseball diamond, with 10 rides available.

Concessions, Music, a parade and crowning of "Miss July 4th are other highlights of the big Independence Day week end.

The 14 concession booths, manned by local organizations, will open at noon Saturday and Sunday and at 10 a.m. Monday, and remain open until 10 p.m. each day.

Proceeds from concessions and 20 per cent of the carnival gross will go to Mill Valley recreation council. The council is sponsoring the event in cooperation with the city's park and recreation department.

PARADE MONDAY

The grand parade will be on Monday. Food, soft drinks and beer will be available, as will tables and chairs near the barbecue pit.

"There will be fun for everyone," according to G. W. Robertson, chairman.

Parade participants will assemble at 10:30 a.m. on Throckmorton Avenue and Madrona Street. The Girl Scout and Campfire Girl marching units will join the parade at Miller and Willow Lane. Costumed participants, bicycles and wagons, will join at Miller and Locust Avenue.

Bill Woods of the recreation council will describe the parade by microphone. Parade judges Jerome C. Hauke, Jean Barnard, James Rutledge, William Findeisen and Ted Kirby will review the parade in their stand in the divider strip opposite 530 Miller Avenue.

A fly-over by jets from Hamilton Air Force Base will terminate the parade at noon. Parade winners will be announced at 2 p.m. at the center, with Don Dimitratos, park and recreation director, and Richard L. Parino, park and recreation commissioner, making awards.

Ceremonies at the center will start at noon on the fourth and include flag raising by the Marine Corps reserve color guard, singing of the national anthem by Mrs. Jacqueline Thompson, and invocation by Rev. John O'Brien, pastor of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church.

Mayor Albert E. White will give the official welcome. Dwight Bishop, park and recreation commissioner, will be master of ceremonies.

Laura Wahler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wahler, will be crowned "Miss July 4th," attended by Cathy Sinclair and Sandi Sarvis. Sue Williams will be crowned "Mill Valley Junior Miss." Her attendant will be Debbie Swango. Crowning will be by Rosalie Sheehan.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Cmdt. Douglas Burden Guthe of the Navy will be keynote speaker. Following, there will be a concert from 1 to 2 p.m. by the 12th Naval District band. Parade awards will be presented at 2 p.m.

Mill Valley parade officials headed by grand marshal Joseph Brewster, have invited Corte Madera-Larkspur parade floats, marching units and teams to enter the Mill Valley parade at the bus depot.

Corte Madera-Larkspur parade officials have likewise extended an invitation to Mill Valley paraders to assemble at 1:30 p.m. at Henry C. Hall School, Larkspur.

Included in Mill Valley's parade will be the Marine Corps Reserve color guard, Fleet Reserve Assn. Color Guard, American Legion Color Guard, 12th Naval District band, Sheriff's Posse color guard, and Southern Marin Horsemen's Assn. color guard.

There will be a bicycle brigade, a Mill Valley fire engine, old cars, and Cecile Thompson, about 9, will play American songs on a piano.

FIREWORKS

Fireworks will be displayed at about 9:30 p.m. from the Mill Valley yacht harbor behind the center. Corte Madera fireworks will be set at the same time so that highways will be less crowded with people rushing from one display to another, according to Robertson.

Schedule by day is as follows:

Today: Carnival rides until 10 p.m., Optimist Ball Park.

Tomorrow: Titan missile and "Mon on the Moon" exhibit, evening hours, community center.

Saturday: Concessions, missile, man on the moon, helicopter provided by the Coast Guard and "small tots band," noon to 10 p.m.

Sunday: Concessions, missile, man on the moon, helicopter, "small tots band," 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Monday: Concessions, missile, man on the moon, helicopter, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.; parade, 10:30 a.m. from Lytton Square to center; noon, fly-over by Hamilton Air Force Jets; 2 p.m., ceremonies and awards at center; 9:30 p.m., fireworks display at yacht harbor.

Students Given Reprimands On Marijuana

A total of 40 Redwood High School students, described as having been involved in some way with use of marijuana prior to arrests last month of three other students, have been reprimanded in a lengthy series of hearings by Marin County officers.

Sheriff's Inspector A. V. Menjou said the 40 were cited to appear with a least one parent each at the sheriff's office during the past three weeks. He said all the students had been involved with marijuana, either in its distribution or attending parties where "pot" was smoked.

No additional arrests resulted from the interviews, however he said.

According to Menjou, main persons involved were the three arrested—a 17-year-old senior and his 15-year-old girlfriend on May 23, who both allegedly supplied marijuana to others, and another girl on May 26, charged with distributing the weed at school.

He said main purpose of the resulting citations was to let the 40 students know the seriousness of the matter, and to make their parents aware of the situation.

"It was a typical high school operation (involving marijuana)," he said. "One student gets a small box of it, and spreads it around among his friends."

He said all citation hearings were conducted by the sheriff's office and police officers of Corte Madera and Larkspur.

County Chamber Optimism Voiced

Optimistic predictions for success of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce, which begins operation tomorrow with its first budget, were made today on Radio KTIM by representatives of the new county-wide chamber.

Discussing the chamber on "Marin Sounding Board" were Carrol Snyker, executive vice president of Marin Development Assn.; William A. Trewhella, president of San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce and second vice president of the Marin chamber; Clinton DeLap, managing director of Marin Visitors Bureau, and Richard G. Burns, secretary of Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce. Kitty Oppenheimer conducted the program.

The Marin chamber, Snyker predicted, will provide, for the first time, mechanism for "effective and cohesive action" on both county-wide and local levels to develop and promote Marin. Composed of representatives of all local chambers of commerce, the development association and visitors bureau, the new chamber will nevertheless preserve the autonomy of local chambers, he said.

Marin Development Assn., Snyker explained, will merge tomorrow with the Marin County Chamber, which will be in the association's office at 824 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

Explaining the decision of the visitors bureau not to merge with the county chamber, DeLap said "successful visitors bureaus generally operate better separately."

"The most important industry in Marin," he noted, "is the visitor industry."

Citing the "special proficiency of government for raising taxes," Burns said the county chamber was evidence that "business has been hard at work at a self-help program at the local community level." Corte Madera businessmen spend $24,000 a year on promotion he noted, with the aim of bolstering sales tax revenue.

"County government has not properly addressed itself to the goals, method of operation and funding of county-wide development," Burns declared, "so we went ahead, and a new effort will begin tomorrow." Board members of the county chamber, he said, "will be working, not showpiece, directors."

The county chamber, Trewhella added, will provide "permanence, continuity and funding."

Novato Budget Climbs, Boosts Tax Rate More

The Novato City Council has added 11 cents to the city's projected 62-cent tax raise, with $38,600 in additions to the tentative budget still being reviewed, according to Finance Director Charles Foster.

With about $243,000 in items still to be considered in the $971,635 tentative budget, Foster said he doubts the council will be able to make up this increase in cuts elsewhere.

The $38,600 in additions includes $5,400 in public work projects, $6,000 for development of the Marin County Airport north of the city, and $180 for a filing cabinet added to the tentative budget Monday night; $25,420 added to the police department budget last Thursday for a new lieutenant, a clerk typist and a juvenile officer, and $1,600 added June 20 to the park and recreation budget for personnel to operate two playgrounds during the summer.

Nevada Press Curb Debated

RENO (AP) — Police booking records in Sparks will remain available to the press unless the courts specifically order otherwise, Police Chief Robert Galli said today.

Dist. Atty. William Raggio advised Washoe County law agencies this week not to reveal names of suspects in criminal cases because of the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling about pretrial publicity in the Dr. Sam Sheppard case.

"I don't see anything in the Sam Sheppard case which would enjoil police from publicly identifying the names of people they have arrested," Galli said.

Judge Laurance M. Hyde Jr., dean of the college of trial judges at the University of Nevada, and Reno lawyer Sam Francovich also have questioned Raggio's edict.

Reno Police Chief Elmer Briscoe says he will follow Raggio's advice.

Ike's, Mamie's 50 Years

Celebration Planned At Son's Home

By FRANCES LEWINE

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Ike and Mamie Eisenhower, looking back over 50 years of married life, have decided "these last years" are the happiest.

For former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, it's because he has more time for such things as exploring supermarkets or painting "anything that intrigues me."

For his wife, the former Mamie Geneva Doud, it's because she has a home of her own for the first time since she married a young Army lieutenant in the parlor of her mother's red brick house in Denver July 1, 1916.

In a rare joint interview, the famous couple reviewed their lives together — the moments of great tragedy, like "the death of our first son," the exciting moments "when we saw our first grandchild," and the great moment "when I was inaugurated as president."

Eisenhower said he didn't want anyone to think he was "a downtrodden slave" in the White House. He considered the eight years — the longest they ever lived in one place — "a very thrilling, very exciting, very humbling experience."

At the interview they had gaiety about them — Ike at 75 and Mamie at 69. They looked younger than their years. As grandparents, they expressed optimism about the youth of America.

Eisenhower said he believed the good, finely educated, understanding youngsters would "take over from the cockeyed kooks," whose exhibitionist antics "make us look terrible."

"Gen. Eisenhower," as he now is referred to, did most of the talking as he presided jovially in a gray business suit. But Mamie often chimed in. She wore her famous bangs with a bright orange headband matching her orange summer dress.

They had a bit of advice amid the nostalgia.

Discussing moral standards, Ike pointed to the lesson of the affluent Roman civilization which he said had disappeared "when licentiousness became habit."

Asked whether he thought Victorian morals should be revived, the former president said, "I don't think the Victorian was really an ideal age." He said he liked the present "more independent style of thinking" because "we are more frank."

Mamie had a word for brides.

"Times haven't changed," she said, since she was 19 and took her marriage vows with a West Point graduate of 25. "Marriage is something you really have to work at — it just doesn't happen."

Ike acknowledged that marital bickering is a constant factor but "the older you grow, the less important" the quarrels are. "The first difficulty you ever had you thought your wife didn't love you and wanted to take off and go to Argentina, but now it's matter of fact. I think differences of opinion disappear very quickly."

But, Mamie commented, Ike "doesn't argue, he just walks out."

At the home of their son, John, in Phoenixville, Pa., members of the family — as many as can make it — will gather tomorrow to celebrate the golden anniversary.

The milestone also will be noted throughout the world. Many governors have proclaimed "Eisenhower Golden Wedding Day."

Ike said he had learned from the newspapers that he and Mamie were the first presidential couple to celebrate 50 years marriage since John Quincy Adams and his wife, Louisa, marked a similar occasion in 1847.

There is a nationwide drive to mark the Eisenhowers' golden anniversary with donations toward a "living monument" — Eisenhower College. It is a new coed, liberal arts college at Seneca Falls, N.Y., with the first class of 300 freshmen to start in the fall of 1967. One of 54 schools named for Eisenhower, it will provide accelerated college degrees in three instead of four years.

While Eisenhower was looking for hints for an anniversary gift to match the diamond-studded watch he gave her on their silver wedding date, Mamie led the national gift giving with the announcement: "I'm going to give him money for his college."

Eisenhower had some sympathetic words for the generation of his grandson, David, 18. Their generation, he said, "is the finest we've ever produced, certainly the best educated, and it is more mature and certainly more intellectually active in what's going on around us."

The general cited the "great tragedy" when his first son, Doud Dwight Eisenhower, died of scarlet fever when just a little more than 3 years old. Eisenhower recently went to Denver where the child's body was exhumed and reburied in Meditation Chapel on Eisenhower Center grounds at Abilene, Kan., Ike's birthplace and cite of his presidential library and museum.

One of the saddest things he said he ever had to do was send troops to Little Rock, Ark., in 1957 "to see that the governor did not violate orders of the federal government."

For Mamie, the "most difficult moment in the White House" was the night Eisenhower suffered a stroke in November 1957 and she carried on was dead or alive," she said of her husband.

Mamie's recital of her ordeal led Eisenhower to tell of his experiences in suffering the stroke, which he called "a confusion of the mind. I just couldn't pick up a pen. I messed some papers off the desk. I went down to pick them up. I didn't know where to put them."

a scheduled state dinner for the king of Morocco and 80 guests.

"I didn't know whether he

Later, Eisenhower said, "I couldn't use my tongue. You know that it was a terrible blow to me."

He explained: "I knew exactly what I wanted to say, but there was no way possible for me to select out of my mental dictionary the word I wanted."

Mamie said much of her time is consumed by housewife duties and writing checks for charities. She spends a great deal of time on correspondence with friends and well-wishers and those seeking her recipes or her aid for church sales.

Ailing Jet Lands Safely At Bay Field

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A TWA jet liner made an emergency landing at San Francisco Internation Airport yesterday. All 98 passengers and eight crew members safely left the plane through emergency exit chutes.

Two tires blew out and fire flared briefly in the plane's right wheel assembly, but Capt. Clarence Robey called the landing routine.

The plane had taken off at 10:30 a.m. for Denver, Washington, London and Frankfurt, but Robey reported that hydraulic failure was discovered about 30 minutes later and he turned back. The landing wheels were cranked down manually for the landing.

The passengers were taken back to the terminal and caught other flights.

Signups Open In 'Head Start' Summer Program

Registration is now underway for a new summer Project Head Start program to begin in four Marin County schools Tuesday.

About 120 pre-school children are expected to enroll in classes at Deer Park School in Fairfax, Marion School in Novato and Macphail School in the San Rafael district, according to the county schools office. The eight-week program is underwritten by a $26,400 grant from the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

Some 60 children are expected to continue in a program at Manzanita School operated by the Sausalito School District that has been extended into the summer.

Eligible children will attend weekday classes from 8:30 a.m. to noon. A majority of the children attending must come from families with incomes under $4,000 per year.

CARPET OVER FURNACE

Wall-To-Wall Fire Ends Redecoration

Redecoration of the Al M. Harris home at 114 San Rafael Avenue, San Rafael, came to a fiery end this morning.

New wall-to-wall carpeting, which had been stretched over a floor furnace, burned, set fire to the floor beneath, and did damage estimated at $700 to the house and contents.

Harris said the rug was delivered yesterday and he had spread it out to flatten, planning to lay it today and cut out an opening for the furnace vent. He said he thought he had turned off the furnace pilot light.

At 5:45 a.m. Mrs. Harris found the house filled with smoke and called firemen, who had to chop through the floor in one place.

Harris said a thick, greasy film had settled on the newly painted walls of the six-room house.

Retired Minister Traces Ancestors

By PAT PERRY

Ervin C. Tipton is a retired Methodist minister, living quietly with his wife in San Rafael. But he gets an enormous kick out of knowing, for sure, that one of his ancestors was knighted on the field of battle for cutting off the head of Llewellyn, Prince of Wales.

Tipton's longtime hobby, and now his retirement activity, is genealogy, "the study of family pedigrees and the methods of investigation of them."

He became interested in genealogy 12 years ago, when a distant cousin wrote for information on Tipton's side of the family.

Tipton.

COAT OF ARMS
For Tipton family

WRITING BOOK

"He said he was writing a book on our family tree," explained Tipton, "and I realized that with my father dead there are many things about our family I should have known. So eventually I bought my cousin's book and started from there.

"My father's father was a miner in the Gold Rush days, and was killed by Indians in Colorado. That was the first lead."

Today Tipton proudly displays an elaborate family tree, the result of extensive investigation which included trips to England and the East Coast. Now he can trace his ancestors back to a William Tipton, listed in the Domesday Book in the 11th Century.

DETECTIVE WORK

Tipton says the interest in genealogy isn't in discovering you have illustrious ancestors, but in the detective work necessary to unravel the tortuous details of family trees.

"You learn history and culture of the ages along the way. You learn how the people lived. Of course, some people are afraid to look up their family tree in case an ancestor should turn out to have been thief or a rogue."

He admits his own ancestors are a particularly interesting bunch. Anthony Tipton, of Wetherby, Yorkshire, was knighted on the field of battle in 1282, for cutting off the head of Llewellyn, Prince of Wales. He presented it to King Edward I, who had it crowned and placed on the Tower of London. Later generations surrendered the title because it was too expensive to maintain.

DEPORTEE

Another Tipton, Edward, came to America in 1668 on the ship Constant Friendship, the San Rafael minister discovered. Edward wasn't exactly a willing colonist. A monarchist, he was deported by Oliver Cromwell.

Tipton has formed a genealogical society in Marin, and will assist members in tracing their own ancestors.

How do you start? First you have to know exactly who you are, says Tipton. "Get your birth certificate, then your parents' marriage certificate, their birth certificates, and start jumping back from one generation to another."

BIBLES HELP

He said one of the best sources are the old family Bibles, now fast disappearing. In generations past, all family records were entered in them, so they form invaluable references.

"There's always another place to look. Census records go back to 1790, almost every state has a historical society, county records go back a long time, and the libraries are very good sources—Sutro in San Francisco is the best in this area."

When you've worked back to the ancestor that originally emigrated to America, research the passenger lists of immigrant ships, recorded in most of the large cities on the East Coast. On the lists you'll find their names, the ship's name, and from which port they embarked.

Your ancestor won't necessarily be listed as a passenger, Tipton warns. Many were deported to America, others sailed as indentured servants who had to serve their masters for five years before they were free men. And many were press-gang.

INTEREST RISING

Tipton claims that nationwide interest in genealogy is thriving. One source of the increasing interest is the Latter-day Saints (Mormon) church, whose members seek out their ancestors so they can be baptized into the Mormon faith.

You may even, like Tipton, discover that your family is entitled to display a coat of arms and have a family motto. His is Causa Decidit—this sword in this hand causes cessation of the war.

Honored Graduate Gets $500

Melissa Boussy of Mill Valley, who graduated with highest honors from the San Domenico School School for Girls, has been awarded a $500 scholarship by the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO.

She was one of 16 students selected from 1,317 competing seniors in public and private high schools throughout the state.

The winning of a similar award by another Marin County student, Claire Broome of Sleepy Hollow, was announced earlier this week.

Miss Boussy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Boussy of 121 Woodbine Drive, has already several other awards to her credit.

They include the Bank of America achievement award in the field of fine arts; an award from the National Assn. for the Promotion of Latin and an American Assn. of Teachers of French award.

She is a life member of the California Scholarship Federation and a member of the National Honors Society. This year, she was a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship.

In September, Miss Boussy will attend University of California at Davis.

Kentfield Man Fined

Sheer Numbers Of People Pose Threat To World Food Capacity

By BARBARA HOSMER

The world has always been hungry, with too little nourishment for too many mouths to feed. But what is new today is the sheer numerical size of overpopulation, and it is taxing to capacity and beyond the Earth's ability to feed its people adequately.

So stated Dr. George Silver of the Health, Education and Welfare Dept. scientific affairs committee in a world view of malnutrition 1966 outlined last night for the American Home Economics Assn. general session at the Hilton Hotel ballroom in San Francisco.

Dr. Silver said America will continue to lead the world in teaching nutrition and helping alleviate hunger in other countries.

"THE BIGGEST PROBLEM of today is how to feed a growing population. Some 300 million children are now affected by malnutrition," Dr. Silver said. "And this is a vicious circle stunting the physical and mental ability of the malnourished to overcome their position in the world.

"By this apathy and lack of drive the world is deprived," he said.

As causes of hunger overpopulated and under production are well known, Dr Silver noted, adding that aside from dire calorie deficiencies there is an in-between or "nutrient hunger" in which a minimal caloric diet may be eaten but a person does not receive the nutrient necessary to repair tissues or build bones, etc.

"This in-between hunger can be just as bad as caloric deficiency," he stated.

Dr. Silver said that the amount of food per person is determined by the carrying capacity of their region and the number of people who share in food production. He defined carrying capacity as the ratio of food, soil, manpower and weather conditions to produce food to the number to be fed.

MANY COUNTRIES are now at carrying capacity or suffering famine as they overreach it with a growing population. India and China are beyond it; France and Switzerland are currently at carrying capacity to feed their peoples; and countries such as Indonesia could increase carrying capacity to develop the food needed for its burgeoning population.

Thus, said Dr. Silver, "There are the Have-Nots countries which have broken their carrying capacity and the soil has given all it can, and the Use-Not countries."

Time, vast sums of money and know-how will be needed to combat problems of soil erosion, land development, loss of food through spoilage, poor storage and rodents, and habits of growing quick cash crops instead of nourishing foods, Dr. Silver said.

"Western technology may not always be useful in some countries," he warned.

Industrial agriculture such as the United States uses to produce huge crops from its acreages can aggravate soil problems or create unemployment and increase hunger. Sometimes hand and hoe plowing must be done, such as in the savannah areas of Africa where the soil is very thin.

AS FOR "USE-NOT" countries, excess importance may be given to cash crops, religious taboos about foods or animals, people raise cattle where crops should be grown or try to farm suitable grazing land, transportation may be too bad to allow food to reach hungry regions, etc.

"Yes, there are jungles to be cleared, deserts watered and oceans mined," Dr. Silver said, but they are too costly in terms of money and time. "We are beginning to reach the limit" with population outstripping food production.

"The United States will continue to fill bellies and nurture tissues" in giving adequate aid as it can, Dr. Silver said. "But it will take more than one generation to provide enough."

HE SAID THAT no one sweeping program could be applied to world food problems — rather that each country needs a tailor-made program, preceded by careful studies.

Dr. Silver, a medical care consultant for the World Health Organization of the U.N., outlined a six-pronged program now tried in 10 countries to attack food shortages:

1. Improve crops. Often production is centered on quick cash

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roberts Hughes of Kent Woodlands.

Officiating for the 3 p.m. ceremony was the Rev. Arnold Come.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a full length gown of white lace. The skirt extended into an organdy train appliqued with daisies.

Preceding the bride to the altar in full length gold Empire gowns, were her sisters, Ann Hughes of Kent Woodlands, as maid of honor, and Nancy Hughes, also of Kent Woodlands, and Barbara Hall of Los Angeles, the bridegroom's sister.

Robert Gordon of Berkeley was best man and ushering guests to their seats were Barry Sterman, Stephen Fabricant and Stephen Meyers, all of Los Angeles.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was graduated from Redwood High School and Wellesley College. She is associated with the Harvard University Physics Department. Mrs. Rowland R. Hughes of Kent Woodlands is her grandmother.

The bridegroom, son of Dr. and Mrs. Victor Hall of Los Angeles, was graduated from the University of California where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He is a Ford Foundation Fellow at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mrs. Patrick Neil of Cambridge, Mass., is her sister.

Following a motor trip through Canada, the couple will make their home in Watertown, Mass.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

He's A Little Older But Willing To Wait For The 'Catching Up'–

DEAR HELEN:

I am 19 and a victim of outdated social restrictions.

I don't much like girls of my own age as they are selfishly single-minded and look to get married right away.

Recently I met a girl of 14 who has everything. I'm not going to tell you she is mature in looks and mind because she isn't, but I feel she has the basic personality traits I look for in a girl. Believe me, my intentions are of the highest, but everyone around me thinks I'm a mental case. I cannot even carry on a remote friendship with her without people getting wrong ideas.

This, in my opinion, is unfair. Could you give me some suggestions to help me at least be friends with her, without someone calling the police? Don't say wait. The problem is now.

—JEM

DEAR J:

If you'll settle for friendship until your March-April romance graduates to May-June (when she is 17 and you are 22) then I don't see why her parents should mind. But don't expect dating privileges for another year or two — until you have proved to them your intentions, as you say, are of the highest.

—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Why do fathers close their minds to anything that disagrees with their way of thinking? Mothers aren't like that. They can see when there should be exceptions.

My Dad says I can't date for another year. (I'm 14.) I go along with that, but I've met this awfully nice senior boy who wants to take me to a special dance. He's quite shy and not at all forward, and my mother thinks maybe one exception wouldn't hurt. Not Dad!

You should hear how my Dad explodes if anyone mentions drive-in theaters, while my mother and I know it all depends on who you go with.

He has these set ideas and that's it. What can we do?

—DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER:

If I mixed in this controversy, your father's ideas would be all the more set. The one thing an opinionated man can't stand is the opinion of another female, when he already has his hands full with two.

Invite the nice, shy senior over to visit this summer and he may accomplish what all three of us dames can't.

—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I nearly died laughing over the letters from those teens who thought they had all the problems. I can't do any of those things and I think I have a real good life. For instance:

I'm not allowed to talk on the phone more than five minutes. Okay.

I'm happy I don't car date. I don't date at all, and that took guts when my friends started, but I felt I wasn't ready. That girl whose father invited the boy in when they spent too long on the porch is lucky. Some girls have fathers who don't care, one way or another.

Nylons to school? I wear a uniform with knee socks and loafers.

On mascara: Just look in a mirror when it's smeared. You aren't ready!

I like bangs, but they give me pimples.

If the girl who hated dishwater did dishes faster she wouldn't get split nails. Besides, warm water is good for the cuticle.

I think those girls need something constructive. My crowd teaches mentally retarded kids. They could even be Red Cross volunteers.

3. Develop industry to bring formulated food to the needy.

4. Develop a food processing industry to bring to a pre-school child the diet he needs.

5. Nutrition knowledge must be taught. Mothers in villages are eager to attend demonstrations using food they already know in everyday settings.

6. Promote education of the highest level of people who will train others in nutrition and health.

"We are prepared to train them in the U.S. if they agree to go home and help," Dr. Silver said.

"All that has already been done should be considered as a starting point," he concluded.

Use Baking Soda Not Compounds

If you have small children in the house, do not store household cleaning compounds within their reach. Opening a bottle or can and breathing the fumes often can be as dangerous as tasting the contents. One way to banish guess work and worry is to use safe substitutes such as baking soda for day-to-day cleaning during the dangerous touch-and-taste-everything stage.

Open And Shut Case On Jewelry Color

An open and shut case has been made for color in jewelry this summer. Any color goes—so long as it is black and white. Richelieu designer Dorothy Adams says so. The size message also is loud and clear. Earrings must be enormous. Whether they're dangling playfully in a pagoda shaped chandelier made up of black or white discs, or swinging like a geometric trapeze, ear trappings definitely aren't for the timid. One of Miss Adams' most successful designs is a half-dollar shaped drop hanging from a contrasting button which features a square of black on a white ground—or white on a black ground.

Assessment Reform Bill Nears Passage

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Enactment into law seemed assured today for a tax assessment reform bill its author termed "a bill of rights for the property taxpayer."

Following Senate approval of the measure yesterday, only routine Assembly acceptance of upper house amendments and signature by Gov. Brown remained between the bill and the statute books. Brown strongly backed the legislation.

A 32-1 vote yesterday brought an end to months of discussion over the 40-page measure. The Assembly had passed it overwhelmingly in April, but two Senate committees had taken weeks to examine it, revise it, send it to subcomittees and revise it again before it reached the floor.

There, only Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R - San Jose, opposed the bill. He agreed there was a need for some type of legislation, but contended the bill "imposes harrassing burdens on county assessors. It does unreasonably open up confidential records . . ."

But Assemblyman Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, said his was a legitimate response to scandals that have shaken county tax assessors offices in several areas. Assessors in San Francisco and Alameda counties have been convicted of accepting bribes to lower assessments on certain businesses, and assessors or their deputies have been indicted in other counties on similar charges.

Petris said "This is the first step in the overhaul of the property tax system. We now must turn our attention to ways of relieving the pressures of the property tax."

Keystone to the new law is a requirement that assessors in all 58 counties assess property at 25 per cent of its full cash value starting July 1, 1971. At present, assessments vary, and this has led to favoritism or unfair assessments in various counties.

The Senate sponsor of the legislation, Sen. James A. Cobey, D-Merced, declared the bill "attempts to make tax assessment visible to the taxpayer . . . seeks to make it more fair and accurate . . ."

Other sections of the measure require audits of businesses worth $50,000 or more each four years; set up penalties for false reports about property; and open up all tax and assessment records to grand juries, boards of supervisors and the State Board of Equalization.

Marin Residents Finish Careers In U.S. Army

Retirement ceremonies at the Presidio of San Francisco this afternoon marked the end of military careers for several Army men and women who live in Marin.

Career soldiers who retired today at the ceremonies included Lt. Col. William C. Gleason of 158 Ridgewood Drive, San Rafael; Lt. Col. Karla A. Rodermund of 100 Bayo Vista Way, San Rafael; and Maj. Blanche C. Albright of 414 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley.

Also retiring were Maj. Bernard P. Supple of 146 Ridgewood Drive, San Rafael; Maj. Katherine L. Sutherland of 31 Knight Drive, San Rafael and Maj. Lee E. Perdelwitz of 31 Apollo Road, Tiburon.

Retiring, but not standing the parade, were Lt. Col. William P. Haynes III of 488 Calle Arboleda, Novato; M/Sgt. Robert A. Heffington of 7 Surf Way, Novato, and M/Sgt. Donald E. Roberts of 676 Plum Street, Novato.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deadline for signing the budget nears as conference committee nears final agreement on compromise spending program for the year starting at midnight tonight.

THE ASSEMBLY

Concurred in senate amendments:

Taxes—Allows each county to establish tax assessment appeals boards; ACA 10, Knox, D-Richmond.

THE SENATE

Bills passed:

Assessments — Requires that by 1971-72 all counties assess property for taxation at 25 per cent of full cash value, requires public disclosure of assessors records and state audits; AB80, Petris, D-Oakland.

Judge — Increases number of judges on Beverly Hills Municipal Court from two to three; AB 126, Beilenson, D - Beverly Hills.

Woman Appears In Check Case

Elouise Riles, 27-year-old inmate at the California Institution for Women in Frontera, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on two felony counts of forgery.

Plea entries were scheduled for this afternoon.

The woman now serving time for bad checks from another county is charged with passing a $45 forged check Jan. 15, 1965, at the Roger Wilco Market in Ignacio, and a $40 forged check 10 days earlier at Hood's Flying A Station, 5778 Redwood Highway, Novato. This was before she was sentenced to the Frontera institution.

Leibert Said To Be Slight Bit Improved

Edmund T. Leibert, Independent-Journal collection manager, was reported slightly improved and in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital, where he has undergone surgery twice in the past eight days for a circulation ailment.

Leibert, who lives at 103 Van Winkle Drive in Sleepy Hollow, is still in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Emergency Clause Beaten In Anti-Rioting Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation adding an "emergency" clause to a new state anti-riot law which takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the legislature has failed to pass the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

"The long hot summer is upon us," Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, author of the bill, told the committee yesterday. "This law must be enforced immediately in order to do us any good."

But the author of the original legislation, passed earlier, Assemblyman Pearce Young, D-Napa, said his measure had contained an emergency clause which would have eliminated the 90-day waiting period, but the Assembly refused to pass it that way. He said it would be "an idle act" to vote again on the provision.

Inspired by last August's Watts riot, the bill makes it a crime to make, possess or use firebombs and increases penalties for arson.

Ex-Policeman Sent To Prison

OAKLAND (AP) — A judge sentenced Frank E. Reed to prison yesterday for killing two men who had accused the suspended policeman of taking bribes.

Judge Raymond C. Staats, in Superior Court, sentenced Reed, 38, to five years to life for second degree murder in the death of Lawrence Walker, 54, and one to 10 years for voluntary manslaughter in the death of William Smith, 49.

The terms are to run concurrently.

Reed had said the two men had told other policemen they had been paying him money to protect an illegal gambling game.

The judge sent Reed to San Quentin Prison despite defense attorney Clinton White's plea that convicts there are "waiting to get" the former patrolman.

Rock Trial Date Set For August

Richard Rock of Mill Valley will stand trial Aug. 8 with four other men for the murder of painters' union leader Dow Wilson.

San Francisco Superior Court Judge Norman Elkington set the trial date after a hearing with defense attorneys.

Rock, 33, owner of a San Francisco bar, will continue free on $25,000 bail until the trial.

He was arrested May 11 with his brother-in-law, Carl Black, an Oakland accountant, and Sacramento painting contractors Clyde Simmonds, Max Ward and Norman Call.

Surveyor Still Isn't Awakened

PASADENA (AP)—Scientists failed a second time last night to awaken America's lunar photographer, Surveyor I, after the frigid, two-week lunar night.

A Jet Propulsion Laboratory spokesman said another attempt would be made tonight to reactivate the picture-taking craft.

If those efforts fail, the spokesman said, JPL will discontinue efforts until July 9 — two days after the lunar noon—when the sun will focus directly on Surveyor's solar panels.

The spokesman said, however, that nightly signals would be sent to Surveyor from the Goldstone transmitter.

Father Blocks Daughter's Study Of Piano In Poland

A Fairfax father has succeeded in preventing his 12-year old daughter from going to Poland for two years' piano lessons, despite pleas from his wife and mother-in-law that the talented youngster would benefit from study at a conservatory in Stettin.

Joseph Lenartowicz, 10 Hillside Drive, Fairfax, had asked San Francisco Superior Court for a restraining order to prevent his wife (they are separated) from sending their daughter, Christine, to Poland for two years with her maternal grandmother, Helen Wojtycka.

Lenartowicz's attorney, Reginal G. Heard, argued in court that the girl was likely to be "brainwashed" by going behind the Iron Curtain for piano lessons. The grandmother's attorney countered that the girl could be taught cheaper, and perhaps better, in Poland.

Superior Court Judge Leland J. Lazarus rejected the "brainwashing" issue, but nevertheless ruled in favor of the father, because "to remove a child of such tender years from all personal ties with her natural parents for a period of two years, even in the devoted care of a maternal grandmother, would seem to be extremely unwise."

Christine, who lives in San Francisco with her mother, Mrs. Alice Lenartowicz will continue to take private piano lessons in the Bay Area. Mrs. Wotjtcka, a native of Poland but a resident of the United States for more than 50 years, had planned to spend two years in her native country while Christine took lessons at the Stettin Conservatory.

In issuing the restraining order, Judge Lazarus said: "If this child really has the extraordinary musical skill and proficiency that her instructors say she has, it is difficult to suppose at this point in her training there is any place in the world where she would have greater opportunities than she would have right here."

Discounting Lenartowicz's fears that Christine might become brainwashed in Poland, the judge said: "Ideologies, alien or otherwise are not likely to have much appeal to a gifted young lady whose only real devotion is to music.

"Even here, in this enlightened land in which we are privileged to live, there is today no immunity on the part of the young and susceptible from constant exposure to doctrines which would seem to be incompatible with our own philosophy of government."

Famous Old Hotel Astor Shuts Doors

NEW YORK (AP) — The Hotel Astor, which has stood along gaudy Times Square like a maiden aunt for nearly 62 years, calls it quits today.

This morning her last 150 guests will check out, the 450 employes will leave their jobs, and the wrecking crew will take over. The Astor, a Broadway landmark, is coming down to make way for a 40-story office building.

For years the Astor was home to presidents and show business people. Every president since 1933 has stayed at the hotel.

In the past 20 years New York has lost 33 hotels. On the same day the Astor closes, the Sheraton-East on Park Avenue also closes its doors. Nonetheless, New York has more hotel rooms now than it did in 1945 because of the new skyscraper hotels that have gone up—and the emergence of motor hotels in Manhattan.

Doctors Hike Dues To Fight Medicare

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's physicians taxed themselves another $4 million in dues today, mainly to finance opposition to the government Medicare program which starts tomorrow.

The American Medical Assn. House of Delegates voted 168-46 to increase annual dues from $45 to $70. The association has about 168,000 dues paying members.

Singers Garner Opera's Awards

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Soprano Deliva Stevenson, 32, of Los Angeles was awarded the $1,000 James A. Schwabacher memorial award at the San Francisco Opera Company's audition last night.

Another soprano, Sylvia Davis, 30, of Oakland won the $750 Florence Bruce award.

The $500 William Kent Jr. memorial award was given to Katherine Calloway, 25, a soprano from Denver, Colo.

Weather Delays Lunar Satellite

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Heavy rains from a tropical disturbance today forced the space agency to postpone an attempt to launch a Lunar Explorer satellite toward an orbit about the moon to investigate radiation and other potential dangers to astronauts.

The launching tentatively was rescheduled for 9:02 a.m. (PDT) tomorrow.

Wind-driven rains from a tropical disturbance centered in the Gulf of Mexico on Cape Kennedy throughout the night.

The weather was acceptable off and on during the morning but the range safety officer declared it "no go" just three minutes before the intended 11:08 a.m. liftoff.

Now It's Official

Summer's here.

A burglar took several watermelons from the locked storage shed of Lee Brothers Market in Novato after breaking open the door, Novato police reported today.

ART REVIEW

How To Please Most With Fairtime Show?

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Every year around this time, the Marin Society of Artists has a special problem; what kind of show to present the crowds coming through the Marin Art and Garden Center during the July fair.

Some fairs back, the artists tried their "annual," a relatively far-out show that made a lot of the public mad. Next, to gain more popular appeal, they tried using a lay jury, and this made a lot of the artists mad. So, while dodging bullets from all sides they came up with this year's please-everybody idea, a show of part representational, part non-representational paintings judged by separate artist juries, with another artist jury for crafts and sculpture and yet another for awards.

The result of all this, one of the most even exhibits MSA has had in some time, will be on view during the fair opening tonight and throughout the rest of July.

For such a comprehensive idea the standards are quite high. There are many works worth noting, especially among the winners, which are as follows:

Non-representational painting: Henry Rasmussen, first and best in show; Alice Scarborough, second; Pamela Glover, third; Harriet Jacobus and Rachel Landes, honorable mentions.

Representational painting: Andrea Hendrick, first; William Lary, second; Willard Cox, third; Don Norall and Ursula Johnson, honorable mentions.

Graphics: Dave Scovill, first; Loi Wing, second; Marjorie Connell, third; Eleanor Bender and Peggy Linden, honorable mentions.

Sculpture: Ken Ruffner, first; Clara Bass, second; Bettyjo Norton, third; Robert Guttman and Anne Dick, honorable mentions.

Crafts: Nancy Kenealy and Myrna Falch, weaving; Vera Borzy, Ann Jack, Margaret Kinter and Thomas Edwards, ceramics; Clarice Meyer, Bob Storm and Anne Dick, jewelry.

Each has special merit, but the show's real bonus, especially to weary fair-goers, is one irresistable wall devoted entirely to hard-edge and whimsy. On it are a college incorporating clothespins by Katharine Holden, a stark geometric by William Latshaw, and Andrea Hendrick's award-winning ode to what's "in," "The Great Society," which includes IBM cards, LBJ chomping on a drumstick, and an Oriental rug.

There is also a hard-edged horserace, "Triple Dead Heat" by Gwen Stone, Nancy Kenealy's vivid winning weaving, a three-dimensional figure pulling a decorative toy armadillo by Inez Storer, and a "Tarsier" by Albert Garvey, a green-eyed, orange, jungley thing with tail and boney white toes wrapped around a vine.

In front of them is a horned steel sculpture by Ruth Dosmar Sipper and from the ceiling hangs a bloated metal fish by Richard Mears.

As a group they show refreshing wit and vitality, a special highlight within an interesting MSA July show, the co-chairmen of which are Eve von Neumann and Maggie Leitner.

Novato Teen-Ager Hit In Schoolyard

Novato police today were looking for a teen-age boy who attacked David H. Johnson, 17, of 560 Stone Drive, Novato, yesterday in the parking lot of Novato high school.

Police said Johnson told them he was walking through the lot when two boys approached him and one, "for no apparent reason," started hitting him in the face. Vice Principal Joseph Gargiulo found Johnson in the parking lot with face blooded and called police.

HOT AIR BALLOON RACING

For hundreds of years man yearned to get his feet off the ground. In the late 1700's, three French brothers named Montgolfier filled a huge bag with hot air and watched it float up a thousand feet into the air.

It didn't take long for man to hitch a ride and soon came the race to see who could fly higher, longer and further. Balloons became instruments of science, war and sport.

With the advent of the airplane, the latter use died out. Now, it's experiencing a revival in the U.S.

One of the highlights of the American balloonist's year is the annual Piccard Trophy Hot Air Balloon Race held at St. Paul, Minn., in conjunction with their winter carnival.

Balloonists gather at White Bear Lake, near St. Paul, on the morning of the race to get briefed, study wind direction and velocity and select a target about an hour's flying time away which they mark with a big X.

A small prize is given to the first balloonist airborne so there is quite a scramble after the starting signal is given to unpack the gear, spread out the balloons and get the gas burners going. They inflate the balloons by directing hot air from the burners into them.

The pilots fly in open gondolas. Altitude is controlled by the amount of heat the pilot puts into the balloon during the flight. To land they cut off the heat, open a valve and, finally a "rip panel" which deflates the balloon.

The balloonist landing nearest to the target wins the Piccard Trophy. Navigation, not speed, is the determining factor.

Don Piccard, son of famed balloonist Jean Piccard for whom the main trophy is named, was among first to get airborne.

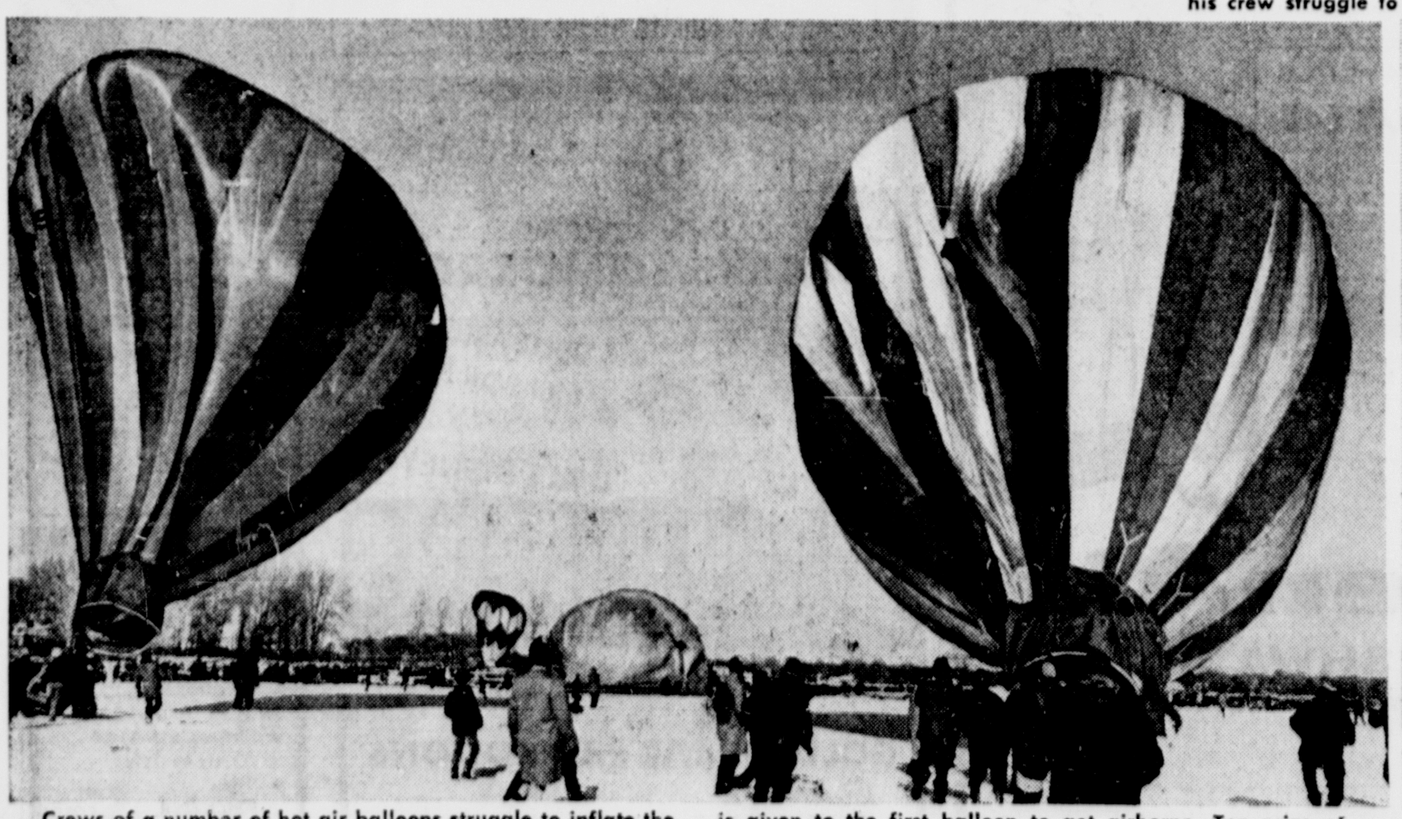
Balloonists competing in the race check the latest weather information and maps of landing area prior to start of race.

Prior to race, Deke Sonnichsen prepares the gondola containing an altimeter and pilot's license.

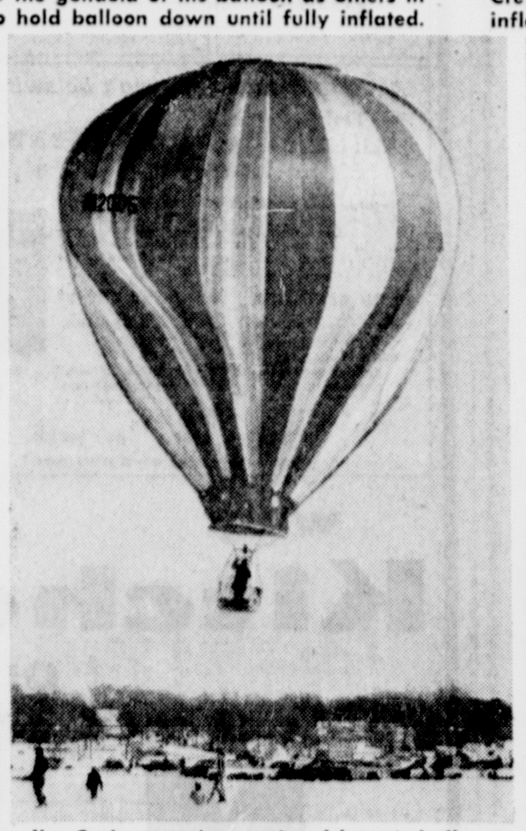
After unpacking their balloon from the wicker gondola, contestants spread it out on ground.

Jim Craig stands on the gondola of his balloon as others in his crew struggle to hold balloon down until fully inflated.

Crew of Bill Barry's balloon, foreground, try to inflate the balloon. Craig crew is further along.



Crews of a number of hot air balloons struggle to inflate the craft at the start of the race as spectators watch. A prize is given to the first balloon to get airborne. Top prize of the race goes to the balloonist landing closest to a target.



Jim Craig, two-time national hot air balloon champion, begins his ascent from frozen lake.

Deke Sonnichsen, winner of the race, points in the direction of his flight after landing.

Draft Youngest First Pentagon Study Urges

WASHINGTON (AP)—A long-awaited Defense Department study concluded today that the draft should be redesigned to induct the youngest eligible men first and not men nearest 26—"those who are the most settled in their careers."

The change would shift the emphasis to the 19-20 age bracket.

"Combat commanders prefer the younger age group" the study said, "and about eight of 10 volunteers are in the age group under 20."

THREE POINTS

The study, presented to the House Armed Services Committee by Asst. Secretary of Defense Thomas D. Morris, made these other principal points:

1. The United States can not look forward to discontinuing the draft in the next decade unless changing world conditions reduce needs substantially below the force levels required since Korea.

2. An all-volunteer force cannot be justified because it would cost anywhere between $4 billion and $17 billion to increase military pay enough to attract the volunteers needed even for a pre-Viet Nam force of 2.7 million. More than 3 million are in service now.

3. The present deferment system is "basically sound."

Morris, in charge of manpower for the Defense Department, testified as the committee wound up its hearings into the operations of the Selective Service System.

The Pentagon study was ordered by President Johnson two years ago but had not been made public, despite some grumbling from Congress.

NEW PROPOSAL

Morris posed the following approach as a way of concentrating military service among the 19-20 age class:

1. All men would be classified as at present by local boards and present deferment rules would be continued. Therefore 19 or 20 year olds would, for the most part, make up most of the class 1A manpower tool.

2. For men who wanted to finish college before serving, deferments could be granted until they graduated or quit. Then the student "would have equal exposure" along with 19 and 20-year-olds that year.

3. The priority category — called after draft delinquents and volunteers—would thus consist of (1) available 19 or 20 year olds and (2) older men up to age 35 who become available for service after their student, or other temporary, deferment expires.

4. Men not reached for induction by the end of the year would be placed at the bottom of next year's draft list, following men in the new 19-20 class and the newly available ex-students.

Morris' prepared comments made no mention of a draft lottery or universal military service, proposals for which have drawn fire from a number of quarters.

Shrine Plans Nationwide Blood Bank

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Shrine is setting up a nationwide blood reserve program, with 15 Shrine temples taking part.

The announcement was made yesterday by Imperial Potentate Barney W. Collins of Mexico City. He said Islam Temple of San Francisco will be one of the 15.

The 92nd Imperial Council session of the Shrine opens in San Francisco Monday and will continue through July 8. More than 100,000 Shriners and their families are expected.

The Shriners' blood program will be operated in connection with the American Assn. of Blood Banks, Collins said. He added:

"What we are doing is starting a national program that will guarantee a sufficient supply of fresh blood and donor credits for our entire hospital system, so that areas with temporary surpluses can aid those with temporary deficits and all our patients will have all the blood they need."

SAN RAFAEL GENERAL PLAN CHANGES AIRED

Sparse Audience On Hand While Planners Hold First Session

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

The latest version of the general plan for San Rafael—a plan which predicts the city may someday have 125,000 residents—got its first public airing last night.

A half dozen people took the trouble to attend.

Five members of the San Rafael Planning Commission, holding their first of at least two hearings on the plan, listened as engineer and planning consultant Daniel P. Coleman, one of the plan's authors, spent 45 minutes explaining how he had revised it since it bogged down before the city council in 1964.

ROOM TO CHANGE

Coleman passed around copies of the latest draft, a 26-page booklet which he emphasized has plenty of room for writing in suggested changes.

Unlike the handsomely bound copies of the plan's 1964 version, which had to be purchased, the new draft is merely stapled together and will be given out free to anyone who goes to city hall and asks for one.

Commissioners, who had not yet had a chance to read the new version, agreed they would suggest no change until the second hearing, scheduled July 19.

Opening the floor to the sparse audience, the commission got into its longest discussion over an area which its members, and Coleman, thought had been settled two years ago: the diked tideland area of East of San Rafael.

TIDELANDS ISSUE

Ed Avery Tindell of 811 Point San Pedro Road objected to the showing of these lands, which Coleman had labelled "tidelands reserve."

It was this area, which had been show for development in the earlier plan, which caused it to become snagged before. At that time, councilmen directed Coleman to remove the tidelands from the plan.

Tindell complained that Coleman had failed to follow this order by coloring these lands a lighter blue than the rest of the bay and giving them a separate label Coleman replied that it would be "childish" to pretend the tidelands do not exist.

NO GAPS

Coleman said the planning area fits in neatly with the county's North Marin General Plan on the north and neighboring cities of Fairfax, San Anselmo, Corte Madera and Larkspur on the west and south, so there are no gaps in between.

It comprises two watersheds, he said, each with its own core area (these being downtown San Rafael and the area around Marin Civic Center), and breaks the city-to-be down into 30 neighborhoods making up four communities.

Each neighborhood, Coleman explained, would need an elementary school and should have a park—perhaps often putting these two close together. The four communities would each need a high school and one or two junior high schools.

ROAD PLANS

One of the plan's most striking features, a shoreline boulevard along the east edge of the city, was aired earlier in separate hearings on the part of the plan affecting East San Rafael. Another recommendation is for the western extension of Highway 17 to parallel the Miracle Mile, roughly at First Street to the Hub intersection in San Anselmo, then take a northern route over the ridge separating San Anselmo and Fairfax from greater San Rafael.

Noting that this northern route would make an "interesting loop," tying in with Manuel T. Freitas Parkway, Coleman said it would be much better for San Rafael—or Marin County—than any route which took traffic north through San Rafael before turning west.

HELIPORT SITE?

He further urged that the general plan be followed up by an intensive plan for redevelopment of the downtown area, providing a detailed inventory of the space available, what uses are desirable, and whether any city policies should be altered to develop it.

Real estate broker Herman Detch asked why Coleman had omitted a heliport site. Coleman said he thought this should await the outcome of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission report on such things as ferry boats and hydrofoils.

Commissioners John A. Miskimen and Carl S. Brown were absent.

Pair Of Fires Keep Novato Firemen Busy

Grass Fire Burns For Eight Hours; Garage Destroyed

An eight-hour, 60-acre grass fire and a $5,800, two-hour fire in the attached garage of a Novato policeman's home kept the Novato Fire Department more than busy yesterday afternoon.

The grass fire, which burned from 12:46 to 8:15 p.m., burned 60 acres of Pleasant Valley subdivision property, and came within 50 feet of a row of houses above Pleasant Valley School.

The garage fire at the home of Officer William Cann at 356 Sunset Parkway started at 3:30 p.m. It totally destroyed the attached garage and its contents before being extinguished at 5:17 p.m.

PLAYING WITH MATCHES

After the grass fire was over, parents took to the fire station two 10-year-old boys who admitted starting the blaze by playing with matches, Fire Chief George J. Cavallero reported. The boys were reprimanded.

While fighting the fire, Cavaldero said, firemen also discovered remains of several old campfires in the area. Such campfires are illegal, he warned.

In all, 40 volunteers and paid firemen fought the grass fire, using six trucks. On both sides of a steep hill.

The garage blaze started when a heater ignited gasoline-soaked rags left near it by two teen-age boys whom Cann had hired to paint his house, Cavallero said.

Firemen had to remove the entire roof of the garage to prevent the fire from spreading to the house, the chief reported. There was minor damage to the roof of the house. The fire was controlled in a few minutes after firemen arrived.

DRIVE OVER HOSES

While firemen, using two trucks, fought the grass fire, policemen at the scene cited two Novato drivers for driving over fire hoses.

Two minor fires, a grass fire at 1 p.m. on Highway 101 opposite Meadowbrook Stables and a stove fire in the kitchen of the Rancho Rafael Restaurant at 1:18 p.m., put out by employees using an extinguisher, complicated the fighting of the grass fire, Cavaller said.

Flying Pool Ball Smashes Glass

A session of smashing vehicle windshields and windows, apparently with a pool ball, climaxed early yesterday with the vandals heaving the ball through a large plate glass window of an Ignacio service station, sheriff's officers said today.

Deputy Norman Johnson said he was on patrol when he discovered four vehicles, parked in the vicinity of Nave Lanes, Ignacio, had glass shattered.

Shortly afterward, he said, a Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant informed him he had seen two teen-aged youths running from the scene.

Later, Dennis Burkhard, operator of a Standard Service Station at 5810 Redwood Highway, said he opened for business and discovered the broken glass. The ball, white with a red stripe, lay inside the building, he added.

HUB FIREMAN CALLED OUT TO OWN HOME

Fireman Pete Elfers of San Anselmo helped quench a small blaze in his own home at 170 Spring Grove Avenue, San Anselmo, last night.

He was on duty at the fire station when his wife, Laverne, walked into the kitchen at 11:08 p.m. and found a wooden light fixture burning on the stove. She called for help. Elfers was one of the crew that responded to douse the wood with water from the kitchen sink.

Firemen guessed the fixture blaze began when the Elfer's cat knocked the fixture onto the stove.

San Anselmo School Board Set To Elect

San Anselmo School District trustees will elect new officers when they meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the faculty room of Isabel Cook School.

Since state law requires a school board organizational meeting between July 1 and 15, the district has circulated another agenda listing the elections at 8 a.m. tomorrow. Anyone appearing at that meeting will be told the results of elections tonight by Supt. Stephen Parodi. Trustees will not be there.

Tonight, the board will also consider names of citizens recommended for appointment to a school bond issue committee and will be asked to sign an agreement for use of school facilities by the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department.

Open House Set

A staff open house commemorating the fifth anniversary of Air Force communications service will be held at the headquarters of Western Communications Region at Hamilton Air Force Base tomorrow from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Man Talks To Painters, Then Jumps

A man told two bridge painters that it was his last day in San Francisco, then jumped to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge at 3:52 p.m. yesterday.

The body of Walter E. Liston, 35, of San Francisco missed hitting a Harbor Tours boat full of tourists that was passing under the bridge as it hit the water. The Coast Guard recovered the body about 4:15 p.m.

Painters Raymond Santana and Rufo Ramos said Liston approached them at the south tower and asked them the height of the bridge. After saying that he was from West Virginia and it was his last day in San Francisco, he walked out to midspan, they said.

Santana told the California Highway Patrol he then looked up and saw Liston hanging on the outside of the eastside railing before he let go. Liston left his jacket, a pair of loafers and a notebook on the railing. A suicide note was in a jacket pocket.

Liston was employed as a clerk with F. W. Woolworth Co. in San Francisco. He leaves a wife, Betty, and a brother, Robert, in San Francisco, the San Francisco coroner's office said.

Stingray Hits Belvedere Boy

Mark Menzel, 11, of 39 west shore road, Belvedere, was swimming in the Belvedere Lagoon yesterday when he was struck by what doctors think was a stingray.

Mark told Belvedere police he was swimming in the deep, clear part of the lagoon when something struck him in the left knee. Doctors Michael D. Scholl and Donovan O. Cooke of Belvedere, who treated the wound, said the stingray probably was disturbed from the mud bottom and attacked him.

Police said stingrays have been pulled from the lagoon from time to time.

Tax Revisions Voted By Cities

Marin's 11 cities presented a united front last night for tax revisions to correct what city officials regard as tax inequities for city dwellers.

By unanimous vote, council members of the 11 cities, at a Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen meeting in San Anselmo, approved four recommendations of the county-city services committee and endorsed the "Blackwell Bill" for state legislation in behalf of city taxpayers.

TWO SHY AWAY

All but two of the cities also endorsed the fifth of the city-county services committee recommendations.

The committee recommendations are:

1. Structural fire protection. "That the board of supervisors (1) adopt a county structural fire protection budget of $99,134 for 1966-67 and (2) simultaneously create a county service area for structural fire protection in the build-up areas of the county, to be effective July 1, 1967." The $99,134 is the figure County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell contends is the portion of the county fire budget used for structural fire protection, from which residents of cities and fire districts are exempt.

2. County tax collection charges. "That charges by the county to the cities for collection of property taxes be eliminated or all public agencies be charged on an equal basis."

3. Division of municipal court fines and forfeitures. "That all cities and the county join in endorsing state legislation to establish a standard county share of fines and forfeitures at 27 per cent."

4. Establishing a county service area for sheriff's patrol services. "That the board of supervisors (1) schedule the necessary hearings to consider establishment of a county service area for extended sheriff's services, to be approved on or before Dec. 31, 1966, and (2) consider changes to the subdivision code to require that subdivisions having urban densities be provided with urban level of police, fire and other services through (2) annexation to an existing agency, (b) contract with an existing agency, or (c) formation of a new service district."

TAX MEASURE

5. Hotel-motel tax. "All cities to adopt the hotel-motel tax with funds earmarked for economic development and for attracting visitors to Marin County."

San Rafael and Sausalito did not endorse the hotel-motel tax proposal, specifying its exemption in voting "aye" on a motion by Mayor Albert E. White of Mill Valley to approve the entire list.

The "Blackwell Bill," being urged by George Blackwell, former Mill Valley councilman, would require counties to relieve city residents from duplicate taxation for police and fire protection, subdivision engineering, maintenance of county streets, and office of the county counsel.

BUDGET FIGURE

Blackwell, present at the meeting, quoted figures supplied by County Auditor Mitchell showing that these total $1,609,000 in the proposed 1967 county budget.

Endorsement of the "Blackwell Bill" is to be forwarded to Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and to the League of Women Voters.

After their rare show of unanimity, the mayors and councilmen heard David G. Greenlee, district representative of the state Compensation Insurance Fund, describe the fund's operation.

Councilman Earl O'Grady of Larkspur was unanimously reelected as the cities' representative on the governing board of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments.

Next meeting will be the last Wednesday in September, with San Rafael as host.

Concrete Drainage Ditch Held Best Ross Solution

A concrete drainage ditch in the town of Ross appears the "least damaging" solution to drainage problems, county Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said today.

Frost and other members of his staff; Philip B. Lygren, Ross town engineer, and county Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen saw plans for such a ditch in the district office of the army corps of engineers in San Francisco yesterday.

Frost said the top of the ditch would be below grade in most areas so all that would show would be the chain link fence.

The ditch would actually narrow the existing channel, adding to available space for adjacent property owners. Other corps maps confirmed the corps' claim that an earth channel with sloping walls lined with rock would take out too much of the adjacent property.

Another choice offered Ross by the corps is a wall along the southern boundary of the town to stop flood water and divert it into the head of the ditch at the southern town limits. This would prevent flooding down river, but would do nothing to help Ross.

Smokers Lighting More Than Ever

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American smokers puffed through a record-breaking 534 billion cigarettes during the fiscal year ending today, according to Agriculture Department estimates.

The department said that consumption rose about 2 billion cigarettes above the 1964-65 fiscal year, with the increase credited to stepped-up shipments to servicemen overseas.

Totals U.S. cigarette production also edged up for the 1965-66 fiscal year. Output reached 563 billion cigarettes, a gain of about 600 million. The government indicated that the 2 billion gain in consumption by Americans was offset by a drop of about 1 billion in exports.

Parade In Bolinas Governed By Tides

Bolinas Community Inc. Fourth of July parade will commence at 9:30 a.m. Monday since the time must be governed by the tide.

"We have a tide problem," said chairman Parker Edwards. Low tide is at about 8 a.m. and the beach, where foot and sack races and tug of war is held, must be available up to 10 or 11 a.m. for this reason, the parade starts early.

The parade, which has been an annual affair since the 1890s, starts at the end of wharf road and proceeds to Brighton Avenue and then to the beach. A costume parade, it will include a Bolinas fire engine on which children may ride.

An invocation is given before the parade begins, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Prizes will be given for winners in the races.

There will be fireworks and a bonfire on the beach, as last year, at about 9 p.m.

'Free TV Set' Calls Prove To Be Hoax

Three Mill Valleyans received telephone calls the past two days advising them: "Come to Brown's Store before 11 today and you will be given a TV set."

Kathy Howlett, speaking for Brown's Home Furnishers at 38 Miller Avenue, said today, "This is a hoax. We're sorry people are disappointed but we can't give TV sets to everybody who walks in."

Inverness Improvers To Elect Directors

Members attending the annual meeting of the Inverness Improvement Assn. at 8 p.m. July 9 at Inverness School will be asked to name three directors from a slate of five nominated.

Those named by a nominating committee are Mrs. Grace Miller, Dr. Homer Keston, John G. Fall, Richard Plant, and Peter Whitney. The terms of Whitney, Mrs. Ann Asman and Elmer Williams are ending.

You may have said to your wife, "Let's trade this fall just before the new models come out and get an extra-good deal at that time." That's not true. If you bring your car in today, it will be worth more than if you wait until September. That's because the used car market is at its best—right now. And no matter who has appraised your car lately (even us), you'll find that during our Sale, you'll get even more for your car.

Why not come in and see for yourself. Check our complete selection of new LINCOLNS, MERCURYS and COMETS. The time to trade is now. The time to save is now.

Brown Calls For Bells On Holiday

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown said today that the July 4 holiday offers Californians a chance to renew "our commitment to those principles which inspired our forefathers in their struggle for independence."

His annual Fourth of July statement also urged Californians to join in a nationwide ringing of bells to celebrate the 190th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The bell ringing is set for 11 a.m. Pacific Daylight Time, and will come at the same time bells are rung across the nation.

Signatures Obtained For Channel Dredging

The last of the signatures needed for formation of a Richardson Bay channel dredging project assessment district has been obtained and request for formation of the district will soon go to county supervisors.

Attorney S. J. Hugh Allen gave this report today in a letter to Supervisor Peter H. Behr. The district would dredge Sausalito Canal, extending boat access up Richadson Bay and providing access to the Mill Valley harbor development.

Mother Of Four Dies In Self-Immolation

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—A young mother of four died in a hospital last night after she apparently saturated her body with gasoline and set it afire, authorities said.

Mrs. Carol Fisher, 27, of nearby Tyler Mountain, died in a South Charleston hospital 18 hours after a neighbor went to her aid in the back yard of the Fisher home. No reason was given by officials for the apparent self-imolation.

Hollywood Worried By TV Exodus

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Without television, Hollywood would be a ghost town," says John W. Lehners, president of the Hollywood AFL Film Council, which represents most craft unions.

"We're concerned that if TV ever gets away like the feature situation, we'll really have a problem," Lehners said yesterday, noting that two-thirds of the feature films are produced on foreign locations.

He named only two TV series —"Tarzan" in Mexico and "Rat Patrol" in Spain—which will be made outside the U.S., but expressed alarm over indications that "television activity has just commenced to take a trend that way."

He said his organization and the Screen Actors Guild plan to meet with advertising industry representatives next month in New York to discuss the threat of TV "runaway" production.

Sanitary Board Slates Election

Corte Madera Sanitary District board has adopted a resolution calling a district election for Sept. 13 to fill two vacancies on the board, according to recording secretary Portia Fitzgerald.

The terms of directors Charles L. Crow and Lawrence T. Elleson expire this year, she said. The board has not yet set the dates of the period for filing petitions of candidacy.

The board's resolution came at an adjourned meeting June 21. The same night, directors adopted a resolution asking the Local Agency Formation Commission to start proceedings for annexation to the district of James Wright's parcel of less than an acre on Paradise Drive.

The Chisholm Trail is named after John Chisholm, a frontier cattleman who lived much of his life at Paris, Tex.

Judge Throws Out Writs Of Two Death Row Inmates

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge has denied writs of habeas corpus to two prisoners who have been on San Quentin's Death Row for nine years.

U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter had been considering for two years the case of Clyde Bates, 45, and Manuel Chavez, 34, condemned in 1957 for the killing of six persons in a Los Angeles bar fire.

Judge Carter ruled yesterday that the petitions must be denied for a number of reasons. One was that last June 20 the U.S. Supreme Court applied deadlines of retroactivity to the recent Escobedo and Miranda decisions safeguarding Constitutional rights against incriminating statements.

The judge also said that Bates and Chavez failed to prove that their attorneys were inadequate.

New execution dates will be set by the trial court in Los Angeles.

The record wait on San Quentin's Death Row was set by the late Caryl Chessman, who spent 12 years there before being executed for kidnaping and rape.

Bates and Chavez were convicted April 4, 1957, for the death of six persons in an explosion and fire at the Mecca Bar in Los Angeles.

Trial witnesses said Bates and Chavez had been ejected from the bar after making obscene remarks to a waitress and returned with a five-gallon can of gasoline and a lighted match and tossed them into the bar.

Judge Carter gave them the last of a number of stays of execution on Feb. 27, 1963.

The term "best man," dates back to the days when a Scotchman simply kidnaped the woman of his choice instead of formally marrying her. To accomplish this often dangerous venture, the prospective groom selected the bravest of his friends—the "best man"—to accompany him.

EX-49ER BOB TONEFF SIGNS WITH ATLANTA

Tackle Bob Toneff, now living in San Anselmo, has signed as a free agent with the NFL's newest team, the Atlanta Falcons.

Toneff, a 14-year veteran of NFL play, leaves tomorrow to report to the Falcon training camp in Ashville, North Carolina.

"I really don't know what kind of team they have," Toneff said today. "But I do know they have a fine coaching staff.

"I think my chances of making it with the Falcons are pretty good," he added. "I haven't been playing much lately but I think I can take the bumps and bruises."

Toneff, a salesman for Geary Ford in San Francisco in the off season, has been taking them pretty well in his career. He was selected to the Pro Bowl as a defensive tackle four times.

Billie Jean King Scores Big Upset At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) —Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., reached the final round of the Wimbledon women's singles with a 6-3, 6-3 victory over the defending champion, Margaret Smith of Australia, today.

Mrs. King was seeded fourth, Miss Smith was seeded first.

It was the 15th meeting between the two, and only the third time Mrs. King had been successful. The last time Mrs. King won was in the South African Championships earlier this year when she beat the Australian girl in the finals.

It was the second straight day of a major United States success in the All-England Tennis Championships. Yesterday Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., gained the final round of men's singles play with a 6-8, 8-6, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3 conquest of Cliff Drysdale of South Africa. (See page 39.)

It was Mrs. King's brilliant volleying that won her the match. It clicked right from the start—and the big Australian girl's nerve was shaken.

The American grabbed a 3-0 lead and never lost her grip on the first set. Miss Smith gradually found her touch, and she won the first three games in the second set. Then it looked as if the tide might be turning.

But Mrs. King, darting up and down the length of the court, hit back with superb volleying. She broke Miss Smith three times running and ran away with the match.

In the next to last game, Miss Smith made a big effort to get back into the match but Mrs. King saved it with the help of a questionable line call.

Trailing 30-40 on her service, Mrs. King hit a forehand volley which dropped near Miss Smith's feet—apparently a few inches outside the baseline. The linesman raised his hand as if to call a fault but then changed his signal.

When the point was given to the American, Miss Smith dropped her racket and buried her face in her hands.

Mrs. King reached the Wimbledon final for the second time. Miss Smith defeated her in the final in 1963.

MARCIANO ADMITS HE ATTEMPTED COMEBACK

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — Rocky Marciano, who retired undefeated as the heavyweight boxing champion after 49 straight pro victories in 1956, admits he tried a comeback in 1959.

"I didn't want anyone to know I was trying a comeback," Marciano said yesterday while visiting his family.

"When I went into training again not even my trainers, Allie Colombo and Charlie Goldman, knew," Marciano said. "It was something I had to try by myself.

"After a month of working out, I decided against it. Training became a grind and I couldn't concentrate on boxing as I had before I retired."

Marciano called Cassius Clay "the fastest thing in the ring — even faster than Sugar Ray Robinson" but said he didn't think Clay "should be classed with the greatest until he proves he can fight his way out of trouble."

. . . He's Forever Blowing Bubblegum Trading Cards

"YOO-HOO. Oh, Chubbykins. Will you step into my office for a minute?"

"Oh, hi, Unka Horace. Sure. Wait 'til I park my trike. Zoom-zoom. Beep-beep. Here I am, Unka Horace."

"Now, Chubbykins, I want to talk to you about that stack of bubblegum baseball trading cards I let you play with. Remember, the ones with the pictures of the players on them?"

"Sure, Unka Horace. And boy, have I been having funsies with them. All the kids on the block are teaching me how to play Trade."

"YES, CHUBBYKINS, that's exactly what I mean. When I said you could play baseball vice president I didn't mean for you to GIVE away all your best cards."

"But Unka Horace, I didn't give them away. I TRADED them. Boy, did I get a goodie from that stupid kid from St. Louis. Got me a picture of a pitcher named Sadecki. All I hadda give him was my card of Cepeda."

"YES, STUPID . . er . . . I mean Chubbykins. That was a cardinal sin. I was rather fond of that Cepeda card. The way you've been playing with those cards lately makes me believe all those big bullies on the block are taking advantage of your . . . uh . . . shall we say tender years?"

"Aw, gee, Unka Horace. You're an old party poop. If you don't leave me alone I'll scream. W-a-a-h, I want my blanket and teddy bear."

"SHUSH UP you little brat . . . er . . . little darling. I didn't mean to hurt your feelings. It's just that we love those family bubblegum trading cards and don't want to give them to the OTHER little rich kids. They're beginning to make fun of you in the playpen."

"W-a-a-h, they're my cards and I get to do whatever I want with them. You old meany, Unka Horace."

"PLEASE BE reasonable, darling. Those cards of Cepeda, Shaw, the Alous, Hands, Hundley, O'Dell, Sanford, Wagner, Pagan, Cardenal Miller . . . oh dear, I could go on and on. They're all quite valuable now in the bubblegum trading card market. When you were playing with them they were worthless. You have a Midas touch in reverse. Yesterday, for example, eight of your bubblegum cards you traded away accounted for 11 hits in 27 times at bat. Tsk-tsk. Shame on you."

"BUT UNKA Horace. I've still got lots of good cards up my sleeve that I stole from other kids. Ossie Virgil . . . an' Ray Sadecki . . . an' Landrum . . . "

"Oh, Chubbykins, stop it . . . you're making me ill."

"Unka Horace? Will you buy me some more bubblegum?"

"Oh, shutup, and go ride your trike out on the white line!"

"Okay, Unka Horace. 'By-bye. Zoom-zoom. Beep-beep. I'm forever blowing bubbles . . . "

CEPEDA'S SWEET REVENGE

Juan Meat Ball—Splat!

By MIKE RECHT

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Orlando Cepeda had old friend Juan Marichal over for dinner Tuesday night and Juan repaid him yesterday with one meatball that Cepeda gobbled up.

Marichal's gratitude saddled him with leftovers, instead of his 14th victory of the season.

The meat ball, a high inside fast ball, came in the sixth inning. Cepeda took one look and dug in. He hit it more than 450 feet away down the left field line for a solo home run that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-1 victory over Marichal's San Francisco Giants.

The drive, Cepeda's ninth, landed in the upper deck, the first time anyone had hit one there in the new Busch Stadium.

"I knew if it went fair, it was gone," Cepeda said, 'but I thought it was going foul." He never left the home plate, anxious to get a good look at it.

This was Cepeda's first chance against Marichal's servings since the Giants traded Cepeda for pitcher Ray Sadecki May 8.

"I still think he's the best pitcher in baseball," Cepeda said of Marichal. "I root for him to win 30 games."

Cepeda rubbed it in a bit more against his old mates in the fourth inning when he stole his second base of the season.

"The Giants said I couldn't run," said the powerful first baseman, who still limps after suffering from knee trouble.

The homer and the stolen base obviously meant a great deal of satisfaction to Cepeda, who lost his job on the Giants to Willie McCovey and became bitter about sitting on the bench.

It was McCovey who narrowed the gap to the final score in the seventh inning with a clout of his own to dead center field. It landed in the greenery.

Asked about Cepeda's drive, Giant Manager Herman Franks chose to ignore it. "How about McCovey's homer?" he asked instead. However, Cepeda previously had already become the first and only other player to hit a ball into the center field section.

The Giants kayoed Cardinal starter Nelson Briles with two hits in the eighth in the 90-degree heat of the rare weekday afternoon game. But Joe Hoerner relieved and induced pinch hitter Ossie Virgil to hit into a double play.

Hoerner used the Cardinals' fifth double play of the game in the ninth to end the contest.

Lou Brock's triple and a sacrifice fly in the first inning provided St. Louis' first run.

AN EMOTIONAL OCCASION

49ers, Ex-Players Usher Pappy Into Hall Of Fame

By SCOTT BAILLIE

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—When a contract falls into your lap with spaces empty for the salary you want and your signature, either the alarm clock has broken down or you're Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf.

The massive chief scout for the San Francisco 49ers received the document yesterday during a lunch given by the football club to celebrate his election to the game's Hall of Fame.

And along with the pact came such Waldorf proteges as Otto Graham, now coach of the Washington Redskins, Johnny Olzewski and coaches Ray Willsey of California and John Ralston of Stanford.

"Pappy," said 49ers manager owner Lou Spadia during an emotional period of the lunch, "I'd like to give you this contract. I've signed it and left two blank spaces. You fill in the amount and your name. We hope you always will be with us."

Waldorf, who went out for high school football 50 years ago this autumn in Cleveland, accepted the offer in an atmosphere all sweetness and light. Among those applauding were Wayne Valley and Scotty Stirling—the president and general manager respectively of the Oakland Raiders—whose American Football League was locked in a death struggle with the 49ers' NFL until the peace pact of June 8.

Waldorf came to the 49ers in 1957 after closing out a 10 year coaching period at California where he led the Bears into three Rose Bowl games. But it was his character building rather than ability to build winners that were hailed by his former gridders.

"I flew in from Washington last night just to attend this," said Graham, who was Waldorf's quarterback at Northwestern and then went on to greater fame with the Cleveland Browns. "If you made a mistake, Pappy would put that bear-like paw on your shoulder and tell you about it in a very fatherly fashion. He is one of the nicest guys ever to be connected with football."

Graham, former coach of the Coast Guard Academy, wryly thanked Waldorf for letting him call his own signals-something

Braves May Give Bragan The Old Axe

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves have started an 11-game road trip amid widespread speculation that Bobby Bragan might not be managing the club when it returns.

The fatal blow to Bragan's shaky hold on his job may have been a ninth-inning uprising yesterday by the lowly Chicago Cubs.

The National League's last-place team wiped out a 4-2 deficit with seven runs and whipped the Braves 9-5, boosting Chicago's season record against Bragan's team to 6-4.

Atlanta fans, who have been booing Bragan every time he stepped out of the dugout recently, were particularly unhappy with the way the Braves lost, after Tony Cloninger had allowed only three hits in the first seven innings.

Leahy's League Loaded With $$

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — A new pro football league, with a pooled $24 million in its kicker to outbid the National and American Leagues for player talent this fall, has been announced by Frank Leahy, the former Notre Dame coach.

It is a unique corporation program consisting of 12 franchises in metropolitan centers with Anaheim, and its new stadium, the only member so far identified.

Bruce Werlhof of Santa Ana, an attorney who was named executive vice-president of the corporation known as the United States Football League, said that the $24 million in cash and credits includes the price of franchises along with the packaged amount to be spent "to get the players we want."

Leahy, who will serve as chairman of the board with broad powers, was emphatic at a news conference yesterday that "we are willing and adequately prepared to spend money for outstanding players — and can go to half a million dollars to get any one of them."

The recently announced merger of the National Football League and American Football League leading to one league by 1970 touched off the USFL.

Leahy and Werlhof indicated that if the two established leagues think they now have few problems in what was a spiralling big money war of signings, they might have another thought coming.

"We will have a common player draft based on a central scouting system as soon as the regular intercollegiate football season is completed in November and will be ready to start business in the fall of 1967," said Leahy.

"I know our draft will be a couple of months before that of the NFL and AFL, who have announced theirs for January. But I surmise that they now will change their plans.

"I think the AFL and NFL people are too sportsminded to try to circumvent our emergence as a new league. They have no reason to do so and I don't see how they could, anyway.

"This nation is built on competition and before long there will be just one pro league with only one television network. There is need for two, and need for more television."

The USFL will be programmed like this:

1. Incorporated in Delaware with temporary offices in the Bowen Building, Washington, D.C., with headquarters to be in New York, site unannounced.

2. Seven incorporators: Werlhof and Leahy; Harry Kagen, Washington, real estate investor, treasurer; Norman Hecht, Rockville, Md., banker, president; A.M. Cetrulo, Cincinnati, commercial industry financier, secretary; Chester Brewer, Dallas, banker and insurance executive, and Clayton Faulkner, Haverton, Pa., investment banker.

3. The first six franchises will be announced July 20, the next three Aug. 15 and the last three Sept. 1. "Four or five applicants have either an NFL or AFL team in their cities," said Leahy. "Frankly, we are staggering the announcement of our sites to spread out the publicity value." Among cities in the rumor hopper are Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia, Memphis, New Orleans, Seattle, Phoenix, Cincinnati.

4. Prediction by Leahy that "in four or five years we will match the NFL-AFL talent-wide and in competiveness."

5. Players and coaches will have rights to buy stock in teams they represent.

6. Intra-league exhibition games will be played, and perhaps televised by Telstar, in Europe, South America and the Orient during the first three years.

7. Each franchise owner will assure satisfactory off-season employment for players.

8. Eligibility for retirement of players will be much sooner than in the NFL-AFL.

9. Each of the 12 teams will have one president who will sit on the board of directors. This board will set policy regarding business matters.

10. The league will have a "board of coaches" which will schedule games and handle the central annual draft.

11. The theory of a commissioner will be abandoned.It will be replaced by chairman of the board (Leahy) who will have jurisdiction over two separate divisions of the league. The first will be the office of president, who will be in charge of all league business matters. The second will be the office of athletic director, who will supervise over all football matters.

There was no comment from any NFL or AFL official in New York.

TERRELL VS. CLAY NEXT?

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Big Ernie Terrell pondered today offers by challengers for a shot at his World Boxing Assn. heavyweight title.

Terrell successfully defended his title Tuesday night with a 15-round decision over Doug Jones and immediately after the final bell the guessing game began on who would be the next challenger.

Terrell held a news conference yesterday and names most prominently mentioned were Cassius Clay and Cleveland Williams.

Other names heard were George Chuvalo, Zora Foley and Amos (Big Train) Lincoln.

Terrell said all the "firm offers" have been for a Williams fight but he indicated no decision will be made until the July WBA ratings of challengers are released.

Williams, making a comeback after suffering a near fatal gunshot wound in the stomach 18 months ago, scored an impressive third round technical knockout over Tod Herring. The fight was the main preliminary on the Terrell-Jones card.

Promoter Chris Dundee of Miami Beach, Fla., offered a $200,000 minimum for a Terrell-Williams fight and Irving Schoenwald of Chicago told newsmen he would top that.

Schoenwald did not mention names but it was obvious he had a Clay-Terrell match in hand.

A Terrell-Clay match fell through two months ago and Schoenwald said, "I'd like to make another try."

George Hamid Jr., Terrell's adviser, said he had a $150,000 offer for a Reno or Las Vegas match against Folley and $75,000 for a rematch with Canada's Chuvalo.

Williams' manager, Hugh Benbow, also has offered a $50,000 minimum for a match between his fighter and Terrell and Houston promoter Earl Gilliam has indicated he will formalize a Houston offer at a much higher figure.

Haywood Jones, manager of Lincoln, said San Francisco promoter Benny Ford had advised him he would offer Terrell $75,000 to meet Lincoln in the bay city.

"When they talk about $150,000 and $200,000 my hearing improves and I'm interested," Hamid said.

Williams currently is not on the WBA challenger list but Hamid said the Houston fighter "certainly will be" when the next list is released.

Hamid tried to avoid referring to Clay by name but said "that man is touring Europe boxing unknowns now but there ought to be some jurisdiction in this sport to make that man fight Ernie. We haven't put up any roadblocks."

Drysdale Wins; Dodgers, Pirates Gain

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Drysdale, half a $1 million holdout in the spring, finally has become a five and ten pitcher.

The tall Los Angeles righthander won his first game in a month and pulled his season's record to 5-10 last night when the Dodgers beat Cincinnati 9-5.

But his bat played a bigger role than his arm.

Drysdale smacked a pair of singles in an eight-run Dodger third inning outburst that should have made his first victory since May 30 a breeze.

It was more like a hurricane for the veteran pitcher.

Drysdale lasted until the seventh inning, giving up three runs on nine hits before finally being relieved by Phil Regan. Tony Perez's two-run homer in the eighth closed the gap but Regan hung on to save it.

The victory ended a six-game losing streak for Drysdale, who finished with 23 victories last year. And if you think he's been in a pitching slump, his two hits lifted his batting average to .234. He hit .300 in 1965.

Both the third place Dodgers and second place Pittsburgh picked up ground on National League leading San Francisco. The Pirates pushed across a run in the last of the ninth for a 6-5 victory over Houston while Juan Marichal lost his third game as St. Louis nipped the Giants 2-1.

In other games, Philadelphia dropped New York 5-2 and Chicago rallied for seven runs in the ninth inning and a 9-5 victory over Atlanta.

Drysdale's leadoff single started the Dodgers' big third inning. Los Angeles sent 13 men to the plate with the key hits a bases-loaded three-run double by Ron Fairly and a two-run double by John Roseboro.

The loss was only the second in the last 12 games for the Reds.

Roberto Clemente's ninth inning single delivered Matty Alou with the winning run as the Pirates downed the Astros. Alou had opened the ninth with an infield hit and moved up on Gene Alley's sacrifice.

Chuck Harrison and Jim Wynn hammered two-run homers for the Astros with Wynn's two-out shot in the ninth tying the game.

Richie Allen drove in two runs with a double and a single as Philadelphia defeated the Mets. Cleon Jones and Jerry Grote whacked bases-empty homers for New York.

Billy Williams ripped a two-run homer in Cubs' big ninth inning which wiped out a 4-2 Atlanta lead. Marty Keough and Glenn Beckert each drove in two runs in the rally.

he couldn't do under Paul Brown at Cleveland.

"If ever I could attain the regard in later years that Pappy now has, I'll think coaching has been worthwhile," Willsey said, while Ralston recalled how the coach would remember the name of all 236 players who came out for spring practice.

"I'm sure that Pappy's diplomatic, honest ways helped to heal the breach between college and pro football," Coach Len Casanova of Oregon recalled.

Brutus Hamilton, former Cal Track coach who headed the United States team at the 1952 Olympics, looked back on the Waldorf regime as "a happy time."

"Alumni who had not spoken for 20 years went around with their arms on each others shoulders," Hamilton said. "and the professor of archaeology began talking football with the professor of agriculture."

For Lynn Waldorf it was all that and a dream contract hoo.

Bragan Is Walking On Thin Ice

with two on in the ninth, and the Cubs scored seven runs before the third relief pitcher got the first out.

The loss left Atlanta 14 games out of first place and only a game in front of the ninth-place Mets.

Bragan has been in trouble with the fans — and reportedly with the front office — ever since the Braves dropped into the second division early in the season after they were picked as one of the National League contenders.

John McHale, general manager of the Braves, has passed up numerous chances to assure Bragan of his support, and the front office told Bragan Tuesday he was not needed at a booster club luncheon.

Last Saturday, McHale hired former big league manager Paul Richards to head up a new instruction department, and said Richards was available for any job in the organization.

Richards has since said flatly he would not manage the Braves, but some of the players say privately they think he might change his mind.

There has been speculation that if Bragan is fired he would be replaced by Billy Hitchcock, a coach with the Braves who formerly managed the Baltimore Orioles.

Also mentioned as a possible successor is Eddie Mathews, veteran third basemen in the waning years of a great career with the Braves.

Bragan is aware of the reports that he is on the way out, but he hasn't indicated he is bothered by such talk.

"I know I can always get a job, no matter what happens," Bragan says.

Red Hot Marin Softball Team Sweeps Twin Bill

A red-hot Sohner Tree Service sofetball team swept a doubleheader in Santa Rosa last night to notch its 11th and 12th victories in the last 13 games.

Playing in the Class "A" Rose City Softball League, the San Lucky 7 Golf, 12-4, in the opener and then trimmed the Windsor Merchants, 4-2, in the eight-inning nightcap.

Jess Munyon's two-run homer in the top of the eighth gave Sohner the second game victory. Ron McCamish had singled to center with one out before Munyon belted his game-winning blast to deep right-center.

Morey Swarm limited Windsor to two hits as the talented righthander won his 19th game of the season.

Third-baseman Milt Hain twice made sparkling defensive plays to halt Windsor rallies.

A seven-run fourth inning proeasy pitching win in the opener.

Hain, who is currently enjoying his best season with Sohner, continued his phenomenal hitting with three more singles and a triple in the twin-bill.

Gary Swarm had three hits in the opener.

Both Hain and Swarm are listed among the top five hitters in the Santa Rosa League.

The sweep gives Sohner a 37 and 11 season record.

Easy Limits Of Black Bass At The New Hogan Reservoir

STEVENS

The phone rang. I answered it. Joe Navarro of Don Harder's Sport Shop then said, "Well, we did it again!" Joe and his son, George, repeated their performance of last week by again taking easy limits of black bass at the New Hogan Reservoir (31 miles east from Stockton to Spring Valley, thence 3 miles on Highway 26 to the lake.) Joe and George again used surface plug (Hula Hoppers). Fish ran on an average of two and one quarter or three pounds.

Joe stopped in at the Pardee Lake to see what he could see. "I saw a number of fishermen with good strings of fish . . . Kokanees, black bass and lots of bluegills and crappies. We're giving it a whirl next Sunday," he said.

In case you wish more specific information on New Hogan Reservoir, call Joe Navarro at Don Harder's sports store in Hayward.

SHOULD YOU have a yen to tussle with a Kamloop or a mess of panfish and blackies, you might try the Shasta Lake complex. Latest word from that area indicates your chances are very good of making the grade on Kamloops and blackies. The black bass are beginning to spawn and that should step up the action a great deal. Best lures, especially for Kamloop salmon, seems to be a silver flatfish behind a Ford Fender. Best area to try is the area near the Sacramento Arm of the lake.

DON ZUNINO of the Lincoln Bait and Tackle in San Rafael missed out on his limit Sunday, but for seven trips running Don and his fishing buddy scored with limits. Don mentioned that the word got around of the remarkable trolling off the Sisters. Sunday evening 14 boats worked the area that should only accommodate two, maybe three skiffs. A tip to the anglers who are able to get away during the week—try trolling the area early in the a.m. or during any part of the day except late evening.

ZUNINO REPORTED Don Durante limited out with trout at Bon Tempe Lake in Marin County. Also told me quite a few others have taken limits and near limits with spinning gear (using a bubble to aid in casting.) Apparently the favorite fly the spin casters are using is a number 10 or Gray Hackle, Yellow Body. Trouting at Lake Antelope and Frenchman has slowed down, but other waters nearby are still furnishing good creel count.

THE EARLY birds who have worked the small beaches and the beach at Fort Cronkhite have been doing well. Beaches north of the Golden Gate have been providing some exciting sport. (You've got to be there when the fish are. Watch the skies for working gulls, then get on the job pronto.)

Ralston Underdog In England Final

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Dennis Ralston, America's No. 1 tennis player from Bakersfield, Calif., won't win the coveted Wimbledon championship tomorrow in the opinion of Cliff Drysdale and Owen Davidson.

Drysdale and Davidson think Manuel Santana of Spain will beat Ralston in tomorrow's championship final.

Drysdale, the South African star who was defeated by Ralston in yesterday's semifinals 6-8, 8-6, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, declared: "Santana is the finest player in the world today.

'Ralston comes in so strongly at the net, it needs a player with a lob to get the better of him. I don't have the lob among my strokes, but Santana has it. That's why I think Santana will win."

Davidson, an unseeded player from Australia who went down before Santana in the semis, 6-2, 4-6, 9-7, 3-6, 7-5, said:

"I think Santana will win this title. He has no weakness for an opponent to concentrate on.'

Ralston, too, has plenty of respect for Santana's game, but asserted, "I think I can win."

"He's a very fine player," Ralston said of Santana. "I know I shall have to be at my best to win the title. But I am playing confidently and I think I can win."

Ralston fought back in fine style against Drysdale, after twice being a set in arrears.

The South African blamed the heavy schedule of the Wimbledon tournament, which he said had left him tired before the semifinal began.

"For two nights I was playing tennis until 9 o'clock," Drysdale, said. "That means 10 o'clock before you get a meal, and midnight before you get to bed. And the telephone starts ringing at 8 in the morning.

"I was tired, and I couldn't find the courage or the determination to combat Ralston's service. He played very well."

At one point the crowd gave Ralston a slow handclap because he took a long time to get ready for a service. Drysdale signaled to them to be quiet.

"I thought they were being unfair," Drysdale said. "After all I was taking my time between games too."

Ralston said the handclapping didn't worry him.

"I had just made a long dash to the net to try to meet a short one from Drysdale," he said. "I was tired, and I wasn't going to hurry to please anybody."

Santana is the first European to reach the final since 1955, when Kurt Nielsen of Denmark lost to America's Tony Trabert.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

U. S. Teacher's Greek Student Knows His Trojan Horses, Too

A few weeks ago in Amsterdam I was looking over the list of contestants in the World Open Pair Championship when I came to an intriguing partnership, representing Greece.

Their names were Athanassiades Athanassopoulos and R. Rivkin.

I looked them up at once and found my old friend Bobby Rivkin, of Baltimore, spreading the dummy for his partner to play the hand.

"What are you doing here?" I asked.

TEACHING

"I've been teaching in Athens for a year. And now I'm waiting to see my partner go down," Rivkin told me.

"He's a fine player, but even Odysseus couldn't make this one."

Just then Athanassopoulos claimed the contract.

While we had been talking he had stolen his small slam.

West led the king of spades and shifted to a trump, which rode around to the queen.

South led the eight of diamonds to dummy's ace and returned the five of diamonds from dummy.

NATURAL ASSUMPTION

East naturally assumed that South was going to ruff.

In that case it would cost a trick to play the king of diamonds.

Declarer would (presumably) ruff and would later lead the ten of diamonds from dummy to ruff out the jack and thus set up dummy's nine of diamonds.

East thought about this fearfully and played a low diamond.

Athanassopoulos won with the queen of diamonds, cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed a club.

He ruffed a diamond in his hand and ruffed another club in dummy.

Declarer ruffed another diamond, ruffed a spade in dummy and ruffed out dummy's last diamond.

Dummy's last two cards, the ace and king of trumps, provided declarer with his eleventh and twelfth tricks.

"We Greeks are pretty clever, aren't we?" Bobby Rivkin asked.

DAILY QUESTION

The player at your right opens with one spade.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Double.

Partner will respond in clubs, in all probability, and then you will bid hearts to show your strength.

A takeout double followed by a bid of your own suit shows a very strong hand and a good suit.

Stock Market Rally Erases Most Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied in late trading and closed today with most of its early loss erased.

The increase in banks' prime rate to 5¾ per cent from 5½ per cent, announced after the close of trading yesterday, apparently didn't have lasting effect on the market.

The market was down steeply around midday but then mounted a recovery that carried it well back.

Airlines paced the turnaround with United Air Lines advancing more than 2 points and Pan American World Airways, American Airlines and Eastern Air Lines gaining more than a point.

Eastman Kodak whittled an early loss of 5 points to a little more than 2.

Tobaccos also showed strength.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.1 million shares, compared with 6.03 milion yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

With the market staging a comeback, apparently the shock of the increase in banks' prime rate announced after the close of trading yesterday, was wearing off. Major banks boosted the rate charged to their biggest and best borrowers to 5.75 per cent from 5.75 per cent.

Eastman Kodak pared a loss of 5 points in early trading to less than 3.

Despite the rebound, most groups were lower or mixed at best.

Airlines showed sharp improvement with Pan American World Airways and United Air Lines up nearly 2 points.

Boeing turned a loss of more than a point into about half a point. Douglas shaved a 3-point loss to less than 2.

Electronics turned mixed with Raytehon and Sperry Rand up fractionally.

Losses of around a point were taken by Consolidated Natural Gas, Anaconda, American Cyanamid, and General Electric.

IBM and Xerox gained about a point.

Elected To Board

NEW YORK—Amory Houghton Jr., board chairman and chief executive officer of Corning Glass Work, has been elected to the board of directors of International Business Machines Corp.

Reduced Price Set On Pears

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California Canning Pear Association directors yesterday set a $95 a ton price for No. 1 grade Bartlett pears, compared with $135 last year.

The 19 pear processors contracting with the association have three days to accept or reject that price.

Cameron Girton, association manager, said that, "Although a harvest of substantial size is foreseen as compared to 1965's disastrous crop failure, all estimates point to a Bartlett crop below that of 1964."

Obscenity Law Would Curb Free Expression

The anti-obscenity initiative sponsored by CLEAN (California League Enlisting Action Now) has qualified for the November ballot.

The aim of the initiative is laudable—to take smut out of circulation by redefining obscenity and simplifying prosecution.

At present, freedom of written or graphic expression is protected if that expression has some "redeeming social importance."

The CLEAN measure, if passed by voters in November, would attempt to remove that protection. Juries in each community would have more power to outlaw books, pictures and paintings.

The over-all effect would be a dangerous stifling of free speech and press. It is for this reason that we oppose the measure.

Proponents of the initiative argue that each community can set its own standards of what it wants to read and see. But in actual practice, the standards set in one locality cannot but influence the surrounding communities and the entire state.

For example, assume that several citizens in a community rise up in arms against pictures printed in a newspaper, illustrating a bathing beauty contest.

They compel the district attorney to bring criminal action against the publication, and a jury bans such pictures as obscene.

True, neighboring communities where no such ban exists would be free to subscribe to the publication, pictures and all. But this is in theory only.

As a practical matter, a publisher cannot tailor every magazine or newspaper to suit the individual tastes of each neighborhood in which it circulates. He would be forced to abide by the rigid standards set by the most demanding city or town.

Pictures and articles, no matter how innocuous, considered distasteful by the most demanding city, would thus be denied to the entire readership area.

Other provisions of the anti-obscenity initiative are also open to criticism.

Arresting officers would have the power to seize every copy of a publication without a prior judicial determination of obscenity, like Nazi gauleiters.

Civil action can be brought to compel a prosecuting attorney to take action on an obscenity case. A prosecutor is subject to removal from office if he does not prosecute.

The CLEAN measure may curb some pornography. At the same time, it would dangerously curb freedom of expression.

The loss of freedom to choose our reading and viewing matter is far more dangerous than the harm that could come from obscene matter which could escape existing laws.

TELEPHONE EXPERT HELPS DEAF AND BLIND

A telephone engineer's compassion for a girl who was deaf as well as blind may prove a great boon to such persons on a far wider scale.

The engineer was asked by the girl's father to help his daughter communicate by phone. Devices useful to the deaf, such as a light activated by sound, cannot be used by those who are blind as well. The engineer went to work in his lab at the N.Y. Telephone Co., as well as nights in his basement.

Several months later he came up with a model that operates by vibrations. It can be used even by those who are not familiar with Morse Code.

Now the girl, and thousands of others like her, can call for a taxi, order groceries and speak to friends and relatives by telephone.

Competence joined with a desire to make life more human is one of God's special blessings in our era.

Encourage well-motivated individuals to acquire needed skills and technically proficient persons to use their ability for the common good of everybody.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Highway Patrol Would Rather Write Ticket Than Call Doctor

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—"We would rather spoil a family's holiday by issuing a citation than see that family shattered because the driver failed to drive legally."

That was the statement of Bradford M. Crittenden, commissioner of the California Highway Patrol, on the eve of another big holiday weekend.

Crittenden said the greatest threat to a "safe and sane" Fourth of July holiday on the streets and highways is the crash in which only one automobile is involved.

"EACH HOLIDAY single-car wrecks account for half or more of all the persons killed in traffic accidents," Crittenden said. "These involve vehicles that run off the roadway and either overturn or crash into some unyielding object. They also involve drivers who lose control of their cars for some reason or another and overturn them in the roadway.

"The speed at which the vehicle was being driven is often a contributing factor to the accident," he said. "The actual speed may be only a few miles an hour over the posted speed limit but this, coupled with inattention, drowsiness, or reactions slowed by use of liquor, results in tragedy."

Crittenden said the CHP will have its usual holiday deployment of officers on the highways during the coming weekend.

The patrol is using the 500 additional officers provided in the current budget on critical sections of highway under a program known as "Operation 500."

The 1965 Legislature approved legislation which increased the fee for a driver's license—$1 a year for three years for a total increase of $3 in 1969—and provided for doubling the uniformed strength of the CHP during that period.

Crittenden said the deployment of the new officers was being made on the basis of two separate studies. One had been a study of freeway traffic and the other was an enforcement impact study and pilot program in 1964.

"In the latter experiment the patrol effected a marked reduction in reportable accidents by doubling the number of traffic officers on U. S. 101 in San Diego County," Crittenden said.

"Principles found workable and sound as a result of this study are now being applied to 'Operation 500'," he said. "And we can expect to apply many of the things we learn in this operation to our expansion program."

The new operation began with deployment of additional men on U. S. 50 in El Dorado County and has been continued by placement of additional officers along U. S. 101 from the north Marin County line to Gilroy. Present plans call for full deployment under the program on Highway 17 from the bay bridge to the Santa Cruz County line and on Interstate 80 from San Francisco to Appian Way in Contra Costa County by September.

NEXT YEAR, there will be further concentrations of officers on Interstate 5, running from East Los Angeles to Central Avenue in Orange County and on Interstate 10 from Alhambra to Colton.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

School Group Seeks No Aid

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We note in the June 9 edition of your paper in a column by Mr. Bryce W. Anderson entitled "The People's Schools" certain statements, upon which, due to their inaccuracy, we feel it necessary to offer certain comments.

First of all, Mr. Anderson is basically quite correct in his reporting of the "dilemma" "to school boards" when they begin to start budget discussions with the important bulk of the program and salaries already set due to the practice of granting increases before taking up the budget.

He is also quite correct and has accurately reported that salaries take up a larger portion of total expenses in school districts than in any other area of government in California. However, in going into the background, he makes the statement that:

"To a large extent, school boards have themselves to blame for the situation. They have a statewide organization—the California School Boards Association — but the association has put most of its effort into crying for more state aid instead of seeking to get the laws revised to give district boards more control over their own business."

"That the association has not done too well in its lobbying is probably the fault of the boards that make it up, rather than of its permanent staff. There is a great deal of turnover in school board membership. It is not uncommon for a board to have a majority of members who were appointed because those elected to the jobs did not fill out their terms. The turnover on school boards is much higher than on city councils."

The California School Boards Association has not been one of the organizations which in recent years has asked for more state aid. As a matter of fact, we have been subjected to criticism on the part of certain elements of our membership and by units of the California Teachers Association and certain administrator groups because of our not taking as vigorous a stand and demanding more state aid, as some elements of those groups had thought desirable. We have, as a matter of additional fact, grave doubts of the wisdom of the boards in California one generation ago when, rather than seeking to eliminate over-ride ceiling, and the two-thirds vote for passage of bonds, they instead elected to support a state sales tax and equalized state aid.

We are constantly engaged in correcting the statements made by educational associations urging the state to "restore" the 50-50 balance in state and local support of schools and to point out that in fact that, (with the single exception of one year only, about 1953-54 when the state had approached 47½ per cent), this never existed in California and that the state's participation is growing each year.

The reason that many of our members have felt doubts about this approach is that it is apparent that whosoever foots the bill will call the shots. We now have a major study under way through our School Finance Committee, and it may be that we will this year begin to "cry" for more state aid, but this will be because the posture of the finance program and the tenor of laws enacted in recent years now makes this absolutely mandatory if schools are to continue to operate. This decision, if indeed it is made, will be arrived at reluctantly, for our members are ever conscious of the necessity, if we are to preserve our democratic republic, that local government bodies and particularly school boards should have maximum control of their own business.

The statement that the association has not done too well in its lobbying is not correct either. We have had a phenominally successful record in our lobbying, having won well over 90 per cent of the major battles in which we have been engaged. May I suggest that on the two most important areas in which we have not won a victory, there were extenuating circumstances; first in the matter of the "instant tenure" law of 1963 which virtually eliminated the probationary period of teacher employment. This bill was passed by an overwhelming employee-minded Legislature as a result of an intensive effort on the part of labor groups and others, and the opposition to it was not able to organize a single plan of action. Extensive amendments were made to this law in the subsequent sessions of the Legislature. It remains one of the areas which we intend to pursue in future sessions of the Legislature.

The second is the matter of AB 145 (1964). In this area, numerous members of the association, particularly including elementary districts, have felt that this was not a desirable law. They constitute a majority of our organization and have repeatedly expressed unhappiness not only with the law, but even more so with the manner in which the State Board of Education has applied it. I must point out, however, that AB 145 is essentially a compromise bill and is much less damaging than the original AB 46 would have been. Further, may I point out that there are two organizations of the state, and while they contain relatively few school boards as members, they nevertheless are devoting virtually their entire energies to the single program of reappeal, or amendment of AB 145. Thus, this law is not going to be forgotten, and CSBA will continue its own efforts to receive appropriate amendments.

A third area in which some allege we were not successful in our representation, was in the matter of the passage of the Winton Act of 1965. Your attention is invited to the fact that this association did not oppose the final form of this bill, but was concerned with the unprofessional approach to the implementation of the act on the part of the major teacher associations of the state.

Mr. Anderson is quite correct in his statement that school district operation is a complicated business and board member turnover is much too high. However, I believe that if he will check carefully, he will discover that board members have had a much better record of success in their lobbying than the superintendents' or the teachers' organizations. I would suggest that before he stands on the implication that their lobbying is better handled, he had better talk to members of the Legislature for additional information. This association believes that its representation in Sacramento and in Washington is second to none, and better than the other educational organizations represented with the possible exception of California School Employees Association.

Communists' Convention Gives Few But Fascinating Insights

WASHINGTON—Fascinating and revealing things are coming out of the first national convention of the U.S. Communist party in seven years.

It was announced that 202 delegates and 45 alternates were on hand in New York, but how many of these were FBI infiltrators not even the Communists knew.

AS USUAL, the party kept the press at a distance. After allowing reporters to listen to Gus Hall's opening session three-hour "progress report," the newspapermen were not let in again. Pictures of the faces of the delegates and alternates were not allowed even during the fleeting public session.

The non-Communist press was allowed less access in covering the American Communist Convention than it is in covering the Soviet party convention.

But periodically, the Communist party leaders would call a press conference and allow some of the delegates to tell the reporters what they told the convention. Out of such meetings with the press these facts came out:

1. The party is distressed because of the declining interest in communism and declining membership in the Communist party on the part of American Negroes. A spokesman said that Negroes make up less than 5 per cent of the Communist youth group and that membership in youth organizations on the left generally "is almost all white."

2. Bettina Aptheker, one of the student activists at Berkeley and daughter of the party's senior theoretician, proudly stated that the Communist youth membership has "quintupled" in four years. It develops that this great leap forward brings the number from 100 to 500.

3. The party puts its visible membership at a total of 12,000. This is about the same as the FBI estimates, but some Communist splinter groups contend this figure is inflated.

THE PARTY took three policy positions which deserve special notice.

It supported a Communist victory in Viet Nam even more strenuously than Moscow. It opposed any kind of negotiated peace and, instead, demanded that the U.S. immediately capitulate, withdraw, and turn South Viet Nam over to Hanoi and the Viet Cong.

Gus Hall advocated that the party support "an independent candidate" for President in 1968 in order to further this and other Communist foreign policy goals.

The Communists urged Negroes to practice bloc-voting in every community where they are dominant—an objective similar to the "black power" advocates of some Negro leaders.

HERE IS the point where guilt-by-association needs to be guarded against.

Negroes who feel they must win political power in some areas in self-protection are not Communist sympathizers because Communists try to horn in on their goals.

Non-Communist peace-at-any-price advocates are not Communist sympathizers because, like the Communists, they are critical of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, but for different reasons.

When Gus Hall accepted a suggestion that Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., would be the type of anti-Viet Nam candidate the party would support for President in '68, this doesn't make Sen. Morse pro-Communist. I think Morse is profoundly wrong on Viet Nam, but he is not pro-Communist.

I DO STRESS one fact. The Communists know exactly why they want the U.S. to quit defending South Viet Nam. They know it will open the door to more Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

Billion-Dollar Goof In Welfare Expenses

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Next to the soaring expenditures for the Viet Nam war, the steadily mounting cost of President Johnson's expanded medical assistance program for the needy is giving him the biggest financial headache.

HEW Department authorities are reluctantly admitting that the program — a "sleeper" in the new medicare law—could cost as much as $1 billion in its first year of operation.

SUCH A HUGE outlay would be more than four times the original estimate of $230 million made to Congress by the administration less than six months ago.

Already, HEW officials are advising the President that a choice must soon be made between two politically embarrassing alternatives:

Asking Congress to vote a $500 million supplemental appropriation to meet the unanticipated cost, or slowing down the extent and scope of the program until Congress determines what should be done about it.

This health care program for the poor, which became effective on January 1, makes federal funds available to states that expand medical benefits and services to the needy, particularly those over 65 and under 21.

Already seven states and Puerto Rico have received approval of plans that will give them $406 million in federal aid—nearly double the amount originally thought necessary for the whole program in the first year.

THESE STATES are led by California, the largest, with $180 million.

Twenty-five other states, including New York, which wants more than $250 million, have indicated they will initiate programs that will require between $500 million and $750 million in 1967.

The new $1 billion estimate of the cost of this program was disclosed to the Senate Finance Committee by HEW Undersecretary Wilbur G. Cohen under grilling by Senator John Williams, R-Del.

"IS IT TRUE that your department made a $1 billion error in estimating the cost of the medical assistance program under Title XIX of the medicare law?" demanded Williams.

"I believe we estimated the cost would be $230 million for the first year," admitted Cohen. "Title XIX does involve a very, very heavy and growing financial responsibility by the federal government to meet its commitments to the poor."

"What is the present estimated cost of this program?" continued Williams. "It is my understanding that eight states have submitted programs requiring the spending of more than $400 million in federal funds this year. On the basis of these estimates, the cost of the whole program will run to more than $1 billion a year."

Cohen later furnished an estimate that one out of every five Americans may qualify for medical care under Title XIX.

"By 1975," he pointed out, "the medical assistance program under Title XIX will include practically every person who cannot afford to pay for the medical care he needs. This could mean approximately 30 to 35 million medically needy people—or about one-fifth of our population.

"The largest group that will benefit from the program is children in the low-income families — about one out of every four children in the U.S."

Shoe Polisher Says Business Good; Trees Saved At Shopping Center

Richard MacCarthy, the 10-year-old San Anselmo boy who went into business for himself with shoe polish and brushes at the Hub City bus station last week, reports that "business has been pretty good."

Richard works from 6 to 8 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. When things get slow at the bus depot, he starts making the rounds of the downtown barber shops, "Cause I figure I can shine shoes while the men are getting their haircuts."

Tuesday afternoon, Richard reckoned that he had grossed $8 since setting up shop Friday morning. He charged 20 cents for shining adult shoes until Monday morning, then hiked his fee to a quarter. "I wasn't making quite enough," he said.

A SQUAWK BY San Anselmo conservationists may have saved about 25 elm trees lining an access road to the rear of the Sunny Hills Shopping Center now being developed in San Anselmo.

Anne West reports that the developers, in laying out the road, shoved several feet of dirt fill around the trunks of the trees and tamped it down. She said she received several telephone calls complaining that the trees were being smothered.

MRS. WEST and James Reed, project chairman for the the San Anselmo Congress for Community Progress, called City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell, who, in turn, asked developers Grubb and Ellis what they intended to do about the half grown trees.

Leitzell was told that the dirt will be pulled back from the tree trunks sometime this summer and the tree trunks will be protected in the future by boxes.

Mrs. West commended the developers, saying: "Any money spent on preserving the trees will easily match or outweigh, in results, the money spent without questions on a beautifying effect such as paint."

MERCHANTS IN downtown San Anselmo may one day have to haggle with the city, over objections by some conservation leaders, for the right to expand their San Anselmo Avenue buildings out over the creek.

City Atty John G. Buresh reports a judge hearing the city's suit for condemnation of Northwestern Pacific property on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at the site of the old Greyhound depot had ruled the railroad owns property back to the center of the creek.

Owners of commercial property, though, believe they own all the creek their present buildings back onto. If and when San Anselmo buys the NWP property and the neighboring Ongaro property for use as a parking lot, Buresh says, the property owners have to come to the city to purchase to expand.

At this point, the city should expect to hear from the conservation forces who want the creek developed to its esthetic potential, not covered over.

Reagan Suffers Slanted Reporting From The Liberal Establishment

If I return to the subject of "interpretive reporting," it is because it remains the biggest psychological weapon in the armament of the Liberal Establishment.

In the bright lexicon of revolution—and that's what we're going through, whether we realize it or not—the news is not nearly as important as the manner in which it is filtered down to the public. And no item is too small to be passed without going through the screening process. After all, war is war.

The tactic is sound and in universal use. The first move of any South American junta — civil or military — is to seize control of radio stations, the medium from which the bulk of the citizenry gets its news. Ditto for China and Cuba. And, in a more literate country, papers like Pravda and Izvestia do for the reader what Radio Moscow does for the auditor.

BUT OVER HERE we have a long tradition of journalistic integrity, and it is important, to be effective, to give at least the appearance of being strictly kosher. But we are an inventive folk and know there are many ways to skin a cat.

Take a recent example. Ronald Reagan, interviewed in the East, announces he will not request any out-of-state GOP bigwigs to aid his campaign. The voters, he says, look on the gubernatorial fight as strictly a California affair. Ergo, he will ask neither Ike nor Nixon nor Goldwater to go on the hustings for him.

THAT'S THE straight news—but see how it is presented. You pick up your Los Angeles liberal morning paper, look through the summary of the "News of the Day" and find this: "Ronald Reagan said Republicans can win in California without the help of Barry Goldwater or other national figures in the GOP. (See Page 3, part 1.)"

You then dutifully turn to page 3, and(sure enough, there is the headline in big type, "REAGAN SAYS HE DOES NOT NEED GOLDWATER'S AID," which confirms your first impression that Reagan deliberately chose to snub Barry.

BUT WAIT. The sub-head, necessarily in smaller type, preserves the legal fiction that the news is related impartially: "Candidate Also Declines Help of Eisenhower and Other National Figures." And, if you read the text below, you will get Ronnie's actual comment. But not everyone will, as the men who wrote the "News of the Day" capsule and the headline are doubtless aware.

Consider that Ike was President for two terms; and that Nixon was his Veep and came within a whisker of winning over John F. Kennedy.

And yet the whole thing is slanted — and don't tell me that's another word that better describes the situation — to appear to the casual reader as a denigration of Goldwater, the Establishment's favorite whipping boy.

Was it planned that way? Can a duck swim? What do you think?

THERE ARE OTHER ways, too, of coloring the presentation of news while preserving the mantle of fairness. You simply attach an unsavory adjective or noun in picturing the opposition. Signed or not, if the story appears on the front page, the average reader will take it for gospel.

A political reporter on the paper referred to started a trend some years ago by terming all conservative candidates "right-wing" and their philosophical opponents — "left-wing?" Perish the thought! No, the latter were "moderates."

AND HERE, from the same source, is the result of the latest State Poll: Reagan Holds 11 Per Cent Margin Over Brown." The body of the story goes on to offer a possible explanation:

"This year Reagan defeated Christopher by a larger margin than political observers had expected. The notoriety he gleaned from his impressive victory might partially explain his increased percentage of the vote."

The key word, of course, is "notoriety." Here's how Webster's defines it: "The condition of being an object of wide attention, interest and comment, but for something reprehensible or scandalous."

For Heaven's sake, Ronnie! Whatever have you been up to now?

Sausalito Ready For Independence Day Fireworks

Sausalito's Fourth of July fireworks celebration will be held at about 9 p.m. from the sand spit near Anchor and Humboldt streets, sponsored by the City of Sausalito and Sausalito Artists and Merchants.

Fire Chief Charles E. Masten said he will have a fire engine at the scene and there will be extra firemen and police on duty.

Parking lots are to be manned by the Sausalito Rotary and Lions clubs, proceeds to be used for city beautification. Boy Scouts are to sell popcorn. And there will be red, white and blue bunting along Bridgeway and Caledonia street during the three-day weekend.

The display is expected to be visible from most homes in Sausalito so that residents need not go downtown to view it.

Japanese Club Slates Bazaar

There will be no admission charge to the bazaar, which will feature the music of the Shinsei Band of San Francisco, dancing by members of the Nakayoshi Club, dollmaking and flower-arranging demonstrations and the sale of games, clothes and pastries. There will also be a chicken teriyaki dinner.

Navy Reserve Law Expert Ends Career

Attorney Sydney P. Murman, a former San Anselmo resident will retire tomorrow as a law specialist in the Naval Reserve after 26 years service.

A captain in the reserve since 1956, Murman did tours of active duty in the office of judge advocate general in Washington. More recently he was commanding officer of a Naval Reserve company with headquarters at the College of Marin.

New! Only from Hamm's!

Real Draft Beer in new all-aluminum cans

The first perfect take-home package for draft beer

Beer drinkers know how good a glass of Hamm's draft beer tastes. They know the smooth, mellow, non-filling lightness of draft is light and easy on your thirst.

Until now, the fine draft beer brewed by Hamm's has not been bottled or canned because Hamm's felt they could not insure the high quality and delicate draft beer flavor of Hamm's for you in conventional take-home packages.

All-aluminum protects the delicate flavor of draft beer.

Brewers have known for years that aluminum is the one metal that actually protects the delicate flavor of draft beer. No other container can do the job as well. That's why Hamm's uses only all-aluminum kegs for their draft beer.

Seven years ago, Hamm's and the Reynolds Metals Co. began an extensive research program to develop a take-home package for draft beer.

That patience and research has paid off, with this, the most perfect package for draft beer.

The new seamless, all-aluminum can.

Different from the all-aluminum draft beer keg only in size, shape and tap. You tap the all-aluminum can with a quick snap of the new ring-pull tab.

Now, Hamm's real draft beer, in the new all-aluminum can, is the same brewery fresh real draft beer you've always enjoyed before, but only on tap.

New can offers both protection and convenience.

Other advantages of this new all-aluminum can: It's light-weight, chills fast, can't rust. So friendly to the taste of beer. It gives Hamm's real draft beer the protection of aluminum, and the convenience of the new ring-pull tab.

Take a six-pack of Hamm's new all-aluminum cans home today, and tap a can of Hamm's real draft beer...refreshing as the Land of Sky Blue Waters.
